Thieu Demands Viet Settlement

SAIGON (AP) — Shunting aside the United States, President Nguyen Van Thieu demanded today that the Communists in both North and South Vietnam negotiate a peace settlement with his government.

He repeated his demand for the withdrawal of all North Vietnamese troops from South Vietnam and his rejection of a "disguised coalition government."

The South Vietnamese president outlined a plan calling for separate conferences between his government and North Vietnam to work out a cease-fire and between Saigon and the Viet Cong to negotiate a political settlement. He made no mention of U.S. participation.

"Today, the Republic of Vietnam government and myself, representing the South Vietnamese people, demand that the North Vietnamese Communists conduct serious discussions in order to sign a treaty on peace and a cease-fire between South and North Vietnam in any place, whether in Paris or in any other country in the world," Thieu declared.

"Today, we also demand that the so-called South Vietnamese Liberation Front organization discuss seriously the issues in order to sign a political solution for South Vietnam's internal affairs, in Paris, or right in Saigon, or in any other country in the world."

Thieu spoke in a recorded broadcast commemorating South Vietnam's National Day today, the anniversary of the overthrow in 1963 of President Ngo Dinh Diem.

The cease-fire agreement worked out in Paris last month by U.S. presidential adviser Henry A. Kissinger and North Vietnamese representatives remained unsigned, and sources close to the Paris peace talks said North Vietnam has not responded yet to Kissinger's request for further negotiations.

The North Vietnamese in Paris attacked the Nixon administration for failing to sign the peace agreement Tuesday, the day Hanoi claimed Nixon had agreed to formalize the agreement. The North Vietnamese demanded that the United States "proceed rapidly" with the signing.

Despite the delay in the agreement between the United States and Hanoi and Thieu's rejection of its major points, preliminary arrangements were being made in foreign capitals for a force of 1,000 officers to supervise the cease-fire. Informed diplomats in Washington said Canada, Indonesia, Hungary and Poland had agreed to provide the men.

Thieu said that the North Vietnamese and Viet Cong forces had been instructed "to cheat and sabotage a cease-fire ... at a time they call the 'twilight period,' when they are subject to the control of no one."

Meanwhile, Gen. Duong Van "Big" Minh, one of the leaders of the non-Communist opposition to Thieu, broke a long silence and urged a sincere and just national conciliation to bring peace to Vietnam.

Clear Way For Accord

WASHINGTON (AP) — While the United States maintains it won't be rushed into a peace in Indochina, arrangements are being made for an international force to supervise a cease-fire agreement.

Diplomatic sources said Tuesday Canada, Indonesia, Hungary and Poland have agreed to provide 250 officers each toward the force, which the United States would like to see in place at the time a cease-fire becomes effective.

North Vietnam and the Viet Cong had demanded that the United States sign a nine-point peace agreement in Paris on Tuesday, but U.S. spokesmen said additional details had to be worked out and the day passed without a signing.

U.S. spokesmen also declined to encourage speculation in diplomatic circles that an agreement might be signed by Saturday or Sunday. Neither have they indicated when secret negotiations on the remaining details might be held.

"I am hopeful an agreement will be reached, but I'm not getting into any timetable," Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird told newsmen Tuesday.

Spokesmen here did not seem worried that the refusal to sign the agreement Tuesday would precipitate a crisis in negotiations.

Laird indicated the U.S. side is not worried over efforts by the North Vietnamese and Viet Cong to seize as much additional territory as possible in the South before a cease-fire takes effect.

He said the maneuvers probably would not provide "significant changes." He also said the spreading out of the Communist forces makes them "very vulnerable" to South Vietnamese forces.

The nine-point agreement, which was worked out in secret talks in Paris, provides for an in-place cease-fire, and withdrawal of U.S. troops and the release of all war prisoners in Indochina within 60 days.

It also provides for establishment of a council with representatives of both the South Vietnamese government and the Viet Cong to supervise elections.

President Nguyen Van Thieu insisted in a National Day speech in Saigon today that any peace agreement also must provide for withdrawal of North Vietnamese forces and that there must be clarification that the council will not be interpreted by either side as a coalition government.

Nixon administration officials, however, have indicated they doubt that Thieu might block the agreement.

Kirkpatrick Predicting Vote Record

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — Missouri Secretary of State James C. Kirkpatrick estimated today that a record number of Missouri voters, 1,975,000, will cast ballots in Tuesday's election.

This would be an increase of about 12 per cent over the 1,764,602 votes cast for governor in 1968.

The largest vote for governor in Missouri history was 1,887,331 in 1960.

Kirkpatrick based his estimate on a spot-check among county clerks and election board officials.

The increase was based on many factors, including the new youth vote, reduced residency requirements and more absentee ballots.

There is a potential of 569,000 new first-time voters, Kirkpatrick said. There are 261,000 persons aged 18-20 who are eligible to vote for the first time for president and governor. An additional 308,000 21 to 25-year-olds have reached voting age since the 1968 elections.

Estimates of the youth vote vary widely, Kirkpatrick said. They account for 17 per cent of the electorate in Missouri, but are expected to cast a smaller portion of votes. "Several factors could influence the size of the vote," Kirkpatrick said.

"Last-minute efforts by candidates, local campaigns reaching their peak, new national issues, and the weather on election day — wet or dry, comfortable or cold — can affect the turnout."

Hatch Act Violated

Resignation From ASCS Forced

By DOUG KNEIBERT
Editor

Erwin Rumpf, for 16 years program man for the Pettis County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service (ASCS), was forced to resign recently for violating the federal Hatch Act, which prohibits federal employees from taking an active role in political campaigns.

On Oct. 15, Rumpf was named one of three Missouri co-chairmen of Farmers For McGovern. At that time he spoke out in regard to being forced out, Rumpf said he had no resentment against the ASCS committee. "I like those three guys, and wanted to do what was best," he said Wednesday.

Rumpf said his main regret was that he would not be around to break in a successor. "I'd like to give him a little of my knowledge," he said; "we've got a good thing going here in Pettis County."

As program man, Rumpf concerned himself with water management, farm terracing, ponds and lagoons. Rumpf is particularly proud of his efforts to encourage terracing, and cites figures to show that the number of terraced acres in the county increased from 8,000 in 1969 to 35,240 in 1971.

Rumpf, who is 62, said he had been planning to quit for the last three years but had stayed on because the state ASCS office said they could not replace him. "I wanted to start slowing down," Rumpf said, "I used to get seven or eight calls a night after I got home."

Dick Dalton, manager of the local ASCS office, said the committee had no choice but to ask Rumpf to step down. "It was a flat out violation of the Hatch Act and our political activities clause," Dalton said. He said the latter specifies that federal employees who become members or officers in a partisan political organization are to be "automatically terminated."

"I would like to go over there (Vietnam) and help those people."

"When he agreed to take the co-chairmanship (of Farmers For McGovern) that is when he violated the law," Dalton said.

Dalton said the local ASCS members asked the state office for permission to let Rumpf resign so his record would be clear. He said there was no complaint about Rumpf's performance of his duties, and called him a "top-notch worker."

An employee of the Soil Conservation Service from Henry County has been "borrowed" temporarily to handle Rumpf's duties, Dalton said.

As for Rumpf, he says he will continue to farm his 178-acre plot north of Dresden. He said he has long disagreed with U.S. participation in the Vietnam war, and added that if it ends, "I would like to go there and help those people."

Speak To Students

Democrats vs. Republicans

Amidst an authentic atmosphere of banners bearing rhyming messages (Don't be a goat — get out and vote), office seekers with "fond memories" and party representatives spouting accusations, about 150 Sacred Heart students got a first-hand insight Tuesday afternoon into upcoming local, state and national election races.

In a two-hour bi-partisan, "political information rally," the students heard speeches by 14 candidates, one candidate representative and one spokesman each from the Republican and Democratic parties.

Democratic candidates appearing on the program included: Emmett Fairfax for sheriff; Elis Ulmer for western judge; Mrs. Naomi Brown for recorder of deeds; Gary Fleming for prosecuting attorney; and Jerry Trotter for county assessor. Two additional Democratic spokesmen were Mrs. Glenna Utz, representing Curt Davidson, state representative, 117th district, and James Buckley, county Democratic chairman.

Fleming, who is running unopposed, also spoke in behalf of absent candidates B. A. "Bunny" Fischer for presiding judge; E. L. "Red" Birdsongs for eastern district judge; and Joe Rains for state representative, 113th district.

Republican nominees addressing the students were George Weber for state representative, 46th district; Peter Stohr for state representative, 113th district; John H. Bluhm for western district judge; Tom Miller for recorder of deeds; Bill McCune for assessor; Harry Walch for presiding judge; Dr. James R. Houchens for coroner; and John Ryan for state senate, 21st district; and H. Leroy Iuchs, county Republican chairman.

In introducing the program, Sacred Heart principal William Lehman said "all of us have lived through an era of increased political activity ... it is up to us to see that it survives."

Typically running overtime for the most part, the candidate's speeches were greeted with polite clapping by the youthful audience. It took a humorous reference by candidate Ryan, however, to bring a spontaneous display of speech-stopping applause and laughter.

The applause turned to an intermingling of whistles, shouts and a few catcalls when time came for Buckley and Iuchs to speak in behalf of their party's nominees for president and governor.

While the equal time provision was stringently adhered to, President Nixon nevertheless managed to dominate about 99 per cent of the presidential politicking as Buckley lambasted at length what he termed "the present administration's scandalous conduct in office."

"When John Erlichman (chief counsel to the president) dismisses the Watergate incident as a prank, he is condoning burglarly ... and wiretapping," Buckley said. He went on to discuss the wheat sale to Russia as another example of what he considered to be "the dishonesty of the Nixon administration in dealing with the American farmer."

Leroy Iuchs ...
... "trying to hide"

Iuchs responded to Buckley's allegations by quoting from a former debate instructor who he said told him "that when your opponent concentrates on your own record, he must be trying to hide something from his own case."

Interviews with several students following the rally produced varying reaction about its effect in shaping their opinions on election personalities and issues. All of them, however, agreed that it

American Deaths at 22

Helicopter Crash Tragic

SAIGON (AP) — A big U.S. helicopter crashed in a flooded rice field in the Mekong Delta southwest of Saigon Tuesday, killing all 22 Americans aboard, field reports said today.

The U.S. command said nine bodies had been recovered by dusk.

Officers in the field said they believed the helicopter — a CH47 Chinook — was shot down. One report said it was believed to have been hit by a heat-seeking Soviet Strela missile, a portable infantryman's weapon.

The U.S. Command said the cause of the crash had not been determined and an investigation was under way.

Field reports said all or most of those aboard were believed to be military personnel. Some officials said there may have been a few civilian employees of the military aboard.

Spokesmen said the helicopter was on a courier run from Saigon to Can Tho, in the delta, and crashed west of My Tho, about 35 miles southwest of Saigon.

The area of the crash has been the scene of heavy fighting between South Vietnamese and Communist forces in recent weeks. U.S. officers said South Vietnamese troops were providing ground security for the recovery operation.

The crash was the worst American air loss since last May 20, when 32 American soldiers were killed in another Army Chinook 20 miles northeast of Saigon.

Meanwhile, the U.S. Command sent two-thirds of its B52 strike force over Cambodia and Laos in efforts to crush a Communist supply buildup in anticipation of a cease-fire. The B52s hit the southern panhandle of North Vietnam Tuesday with the same objective.

More than 60 of the Stratofortresses dropped 1,500 tons of bombs today along the Ho Chi Minh trail through eastern Laos and on base camps in eastern Cambodia.

The B52 effort in Cambodia and Laos cut the number of strikes in South Vietnam to about 40, the lowest since the first stages of the North Vietnamese offensive last April. For the first time in several weeks, there were no B52 strikes in the Saigon region.

Informants said both North Vietnam and the United States are trying to stockpile as much war materiel as they can before a cease-fire. While North Vietnam is trying to push supplies south down the Ho Chi Minh Trail and store them in eastern Cambodia, the United States has launched a crash program to furnish South Vietnam all the military equipment it can before a peace agreement curtails American military aid, sources said.

A number of helicopters and transport planes previously scheduled for return to the United States have been given to the South Vietnamese Air Force, and big cargo planes from the United States have stepped up their delivery of armored personnel carriers in the past week, the sources said.

Question Outcome Of Canadian Vote

OTTAWA (AP) — Whether Pierre Elliott Trudeau or Robert Stanfield will be Canada's next prime minister remained in doubt today as political leaders and their advisers pondered the tightest general election battle in the nation's history.

Complete returns from Monday's vote gave Stanfield's Conservatives a one-seat edge — 109 to 108 — over Trudeau's Liberals in the new House of Commons. But the Conservatives were 25 seats short of a majority, and recounts in half a dozen close races could change the result.

It appeared unlikely that Prime Minister Trudeau would decide whether to relinquish the government reins he has held since 1968 until the recounts are completed.

The balance of power now lies with the socialistic New Democratic party, which won 30 seats. The Social Credit Party elected 15 members, all from Quebec, and two independents also won, completing the total of 264 members.

In Missouri

Flash Flood Watch By Weather Service

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A flash flood watch for east-central Missouri today and early tonight was issued by the National Weather Service, and the highway patrol reported apparently one death had resulted from flooding already occurring in parts of south Missouri.

Highway patrolmen were having difficulty reaching an area southwest of the Pomme de Terre Reservoir where a car reportedly washed off a road and a body was recovered from it. The identity of the victim was not immediately available.

As many as 19 roads were closed because of high water in a southwest Missouri district that includes 10 counties.

In the 24-hour period that ended at 6 a.m. today, nearly 2½ inches had fallen in some areas of southern Missouri, including Monett in the southwest and Cape Girardeau in the southeast. The forecast called for continued showers or possible thundershowers into tonight.

The highway patrol said the Gasconade River, which winds through seven central counties before emptying into the Missouri River, was even with highways at several locations early today.

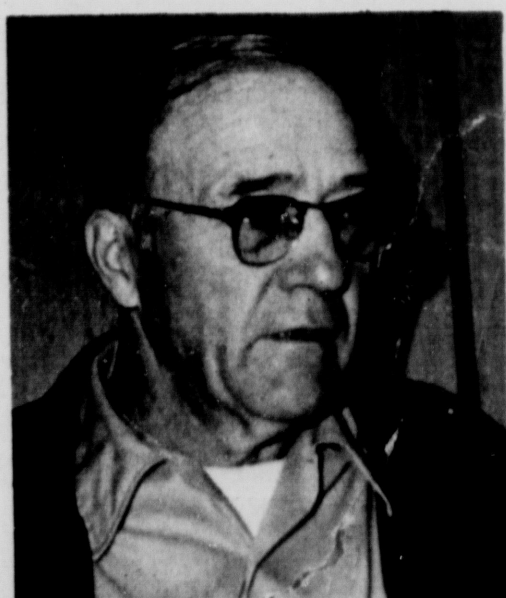

The weather service said two to five inches of rain had fallen in parts of southern Missouri in the 48 hours that ended at 9 a.m.

The area most affected was south and east of a line from Springfield to Jefferson City to north of St. Louis.

At Neosho in the southwest, about 50 persons left their homes in the early-morning hours before Hickory Creek rose out of its banks. At least three cars were washed down roadways.

Police there said rainfall for the past three days has totaled more than 10 inches.

The weather service expected the rain to taper off tonight with temperatures ranging from the 40s in the northwest part of the state to around 60 in the Bootheel.

Erwin

against farm policies of the Nixon administration, according to news releases from the McGovern organization in Kansas City.

Rumpf said he was called before the Pettis County ASCS on Oct. 24 and asked to resign. "They just told me I had to go," said Rumpf. "I still don't believe it. ... I'm just that dumb."

Rumpf said he was unfamiliar with the Hatch Act, and didn't realize he was violating regulations by joining the McGovern organization. "I didn't know anything about it (the act) or I wouldn't have ever 'one it,'" Rumpf said. "I think too much of my farmers for that."

When questions arose over his political activities, Rumpf resigned from Farmers For McGovern, but joined up again after he was forced to quit his job

Candidates Become Ultimate Issues of '72 Campaign

By DON McLELLAN
AP Political Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — After almost two years of campaigning on more issues than most voters can remember, the ultimate issue of the 1972 presidential election has become the candidates themselves.

In the closing days of the campaign, the camps of Richard Nixon and George McGovern, and the electorate, are talking mainly about the personalities, characters and styles of the candidates.

The overriding questions on which judgment is asked Nov. 7 are: —Is Sen. McGovern the radical, the irresponsible that President Nixon's legion of stand-ins has tried to picture him?

—Is the current administration the most corrupt in the nation's history with Nixon knowingly responsible for it, as McGovern says?

Going into the final 10 days of the campaign, Democratic vice-presidential nominee Sargent Shriver said last weekend that the Nixon administration represents "government of the greedy, for the greedy and by the greedy."

And Nixon, on the same day, said "this is no time to experiment with chancy economic theories."

These are the themes on which the two tickets chose to close the campaign, and most other issues fall in line behind them.

When McGovern announced as a candidate in January of 1971, the Vietnam war was his big issue. By July he was displaying a new emphasis on the economy. On Oct. 10 he chose the war as the leadoff topic for a series of television speeches.

Now, with announcement of an impending settlement in Vietnam, McGovern is alleging corruption and favoritism, political espionage and sabotage by the administration.

While McGovern was preparing for the primaries, Nixon was largely on the defensive and unable to develop issues of his own. He defended his spending policy and his economic plan.

The announcement in August 1971 of a wage-price freeze, followed by control boards, gave the administration a sense of offense on one count; the current peace-pact reports have done the same on the war issue.

The "corruption" issue began to emerge when columnist Jack Anderson wrote last February that International Telephone & Telegraph Co. had won a favorable antitrust settlement from the Nixon administration after promising money to help finance the Republican National Convention. The administration denied any deal.

Then in June, five men, including the security chief for Nixon's campaign, were arrested at gunpoint during a break-in at Democratic party headquarters in Washington's Watergate complex.

Nixon's issue was handed to him in early summer when McGovern was beginning to break through in the Democratic primaries as the favorite for the party's nomination. When the other contenders tried to derail him in the late primaries, they sought to picture the stands which had won him a following as extreme, from the war to the economy. The nation saw and heard Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey say that McGovern's economic policies would wreck the economy and his defense proposals would leave the country militarily weak.

Since Labor Day, Nixon's surrogates have been making up to a half-dozen speeches a day across the country, not to mention a flood-tide of press releases from every quarter of the government, attacking McGovern as a radical with dangerous ideas on defense, welfare, taxes and Vietnam.

Nixon himself has had little to say about McGovern—and never mentions him by name.

When McGovern revised some of his proposals under fire, he was accused of being unstable and indecisive.

But the real torpedo in McGovern's campaign was the dropping of Sen. Thomas F. Eagleton as his running-mate after disclosure of Eagleton's treatment for mental illness in the 1960s.

At one point, McGovern said he was 1,000 per cent behind Eagleton—a week later the Missouri senator was off the ticket.

Meanwhile, a federal grand jury indicted seven men, including members of Nixon's administration and campaign, in the Watergate case. Then there were reports of a widespread operation of sabotage and espionage by Republicans aimed at disrupting Democratic campaigns and financed by Nixon campaign contributions.

McGovern also made hay along the Farm Belt. He asserted that the administration had helped big grain dealers make more money out of the wheat sale to the Soviet Union at the expense of growers.

The Nixon campaign has denied many of the charges and contended that other alleged wrongdoings took place without Nixon's knowledge. McGovern has charged it all traces directly to Nixon.

'Bumpless' Bumpers Reduce Rates

By G. DAVID WALLACE
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — New bump-resistant bumpers on 1973 cars have triggered a drop in insurance rates, holding out the hope that for the first time car owners will save in operating costs the equivalent of the price of the federally ordered safety feature.

For some high-and-moderate-risk drivers in metropolitan areas, the drop in insurance rates alone will make up the difference. For others, such as car owners in rural areas, the new bumpers will not pay off in cash unless their cars are involved in an accident, if then.

The current federal standard of protection for the new bumpers is limited. They must protect the safety-related items on a car when it is driven into a flat barrier, 5 miles per hour in front and 2½ m.p.h. in the rear.

"That's not the same as a bumper into a telephone pole, or a tree or another car," said one insurance company executive. "But we're betting our costs are coming down, so we can discount our rates by 10 per cent."

A survey of the five largest auto insurers showed all are offering 10-per-cent discounts on collision insurance for 1973 cars. Allstate and Travelers are offering bigger discounts for the handful of cars equipped with bumpers that exceed the new federal standards.

The 10-per-cent discount amounts to a $9 saving on the $88 estimated as the nationwide average annual premium for collision insurance that pays for all but $50 of repair bills.

Over a short term, that savings alone will not make up for the added $70 that the Bureau of Labor Statistics estimates customers will pay for the new bumper systems.

But the figures come closer to balancing out over 10 years, the estimated life of a car in the United States.

The balance can be more immediate for drivers with above-average insurance premiums.

With Allstate and Travelers, the better the bumper, the bigger the savings.

All of the 1973 Chrysler Corp. cars and American Motors Ambassadors and Matadors are certified for 15-per-cent discounts, which applies to cars that sustain no damage when hitting a barrier at 5 m.p.h. front and 2½ m.p.h. rear. The federal standard permits dented hoods and fenders as long as safety items such as lights or the cooling, exhaust or fuel systems aren't damaged.

Computing the savings on accidents is more difficult, but available figures indicate they are likely to be significant.

The Insurance Institute for Highway Safety found in a survey of auto damage claims that 47 per cent of them were for damage of $100 or less. In crashing 1972 cars into barriers at 5 m.p.h., the institute found the damage averaged $230.

Ann Landers

Ann Takes Poll On Happiest 10 Years

Dear Ann Landers: While cleaning out some desk drawers I came across an item from the Boston Globe — dated September 10, 1948.

Here is the first paragraph: "Most people find the ten years between the age of 20 and 30 the happiest ten years in their lives, a Syracuse University psychologist told the 50th Annual Meeting of the American Psychological Association."

What do you think, Ann? What do your readers think? — Fullerton Father

Dear Dad: It wasn't so for me. Each ten-year period of my life has been better than the one that preceded it. I don't know what my readers think, but I'll ask them.

Just send a postcard (no letters, please) to Ann Landers, Chicago Sun-Times, 401 N. Wabash, Chicago, Illinois 60611. Jot down the best ten-year period of your life. I'll publish the result of the poll in a few weeks.

Dear Ann Landers: May I add a word to your warning in regard to the unfortunate things that can befall children because an adult was careless or thoughtless?

Our old car didn't have seat belts. Our three-year-old was in front with me. I turned my head to look to my left and in a second's time she had her heel under the door handle, the car swerved, the door opened and out she went. Through some miracle she wasn't hurt.

Two weeks later we had a new car — with seat belts. My older boy was in the back seat. I neglected to make sure his belt was fastened before we started. A few minutes later we were in heavy traffic, the door flew open and the child fell out. Another miracle. He didn't get a scratch.

From now on we don't turn the key in the ignition until all doors are locked and the seat belts are fastened. I was lucky twice and I'm not going to take another chance. — Mrs. H.K.B.

Dear Mrs. H.K.B.: Thank you for saying something that needs to be said again and again. I can't tell you the number of times I've seen an adult driving with a child on his lap — or a youngster standing up in the front seat — or kids fighting in the back seat. I'm tempted to roll down my window and shout, "Don't you care what happens to your children?"

Dear Ann Landers, I'm a registered nurse in an intensive care unit of a large hospital. Thank you for your wise words about allowing loved ones to die with dignity.

I cannot describe the anguish of husbands, wives, brothers, sisters, children and parents who come to the hospital day after day to sit and stare, praying for the agony to end. I'm sure they would like to say to the doctors, "Please, let him go." But they dare not allow such thoughts to cross their minds. Believe me, Ann, it could be the last truly unselfish thing these people can do for someone they love. Say it one more time. — St. Louis

Dear St. Louis: Many problems I deal with require some imagination. I must try to put myself in the writer's shoes. But this problem is one I have lived through. My father suffered too long fighting an utterly hopeless battle with cancer. You are right when you say it could be the last truly unselfish thing a person can do for someone he loves. My only regret is that I didn't do it sooner.

Building Ceremony Is Noted

WILFERDINGEN, West Germany (AP) — The master craftsman climbed to the uppermost beam of a yet-unfinished building and offered his thanks to God, "the highest builder in Heaven."

That done, he proposed toasts to his fellow craftsmen and a glass was thrown to the ground, where it smashed. This last gesture was to prevent bad luck from falling on the new building.

Then the celebration continued at a local beer garden. Participating in the topping-out ceremony of what will be Borg Instruments' newest manufacturing facility in Europe were the mayor of Wilferdingen, workers, architects and management officials.

It is a centuries-old tradition here that when a building's superstructure is complete a Richfest, or topping-out ceremony, be held. Custom dictates that if this observance is bypassed no good work can be done later in construction of the building.

In past years a builder could expect to find his topmost roof beam removed and taken to a neighboring village. He would then have to bargain for its return.

Were the new building in the Spree Forest, a written copy of the master carpenter's remarks would be nailed to the roof beam. This memento, plus others from neighbors, would become a permanent part of the structure.

While industrialized Germany has witnessed a lessening of traditional festivities, the Richfest still is adhered to and industry has been quick to adopt the custom.

BUSINESS NEWS

The Central Missouri Association of Life Underwriters held its monthly meeting at the Ramada Inn Friday to hear Jerry Blevins, agent for Franklin Life Insurance Co., Springfield, speak on "The Importance of Disability Income."

Disability of American breadwinners was the biggest cause of mortgage foreclosures, according to Blevins. He said this refuted the general belief that death of the head of the family created the biggest financial problem.

Roy Maddux, state vice president, reported on the annual convention held in Atlanta in September.

National Quality Awards were presented to Abe Silverman, Bill Bean and Marjorie Garansson.

The group's next meeting will be Nov. 17.

Ralph Vergenz, President of the Missouri Credit Union League, was the featured speaker at the recent meeting of the West Central Chapter of Credit Unions at the Ramada Inn here.

About 180 persons, representing 11 area credit unions, attended the meeting.

Area credit unions in the West Central Chapter are Town and Country Shoes Federal Credit Union, Mo-Pac Employees Credit Union; RIVCO Credit Union; P. C. Glassworkers Credit Union; UTIL-CO-OP Credit Union, Bothell Hospital Employees Credit Union, all of Sedalia; and credit unions from Warrensburg, Richmond, Lexington, Appleton City and Knob Lick.

Political Speeches
Center on Amnesty

By R. GREGORY NOKES
Associated Press Writer

Vice President Spiro T. Agnew has urged "deprivation of freedom" for draft-dodgers and deserters, but Sen. George McGovern says the Republicans are raising the issue of amnesty to make people forget about more important issues.

"His strategy is clear," McGovern said Tuesday of President Nixon's campaign. "If he can work up enough anger and fear over amnesty, perhaps the American people will forget about jobs and prices and taxes."

The latest Harris Survey Tuesday showed President Nixon had increased his lead over McGovern for the first time since early September, leading 60 per cent to 32 per cent among those polled.

McGovern, the Democratic presidential candidate, and Agnew both talked of amnesty during Tuesday campaigning.

Agnew, speaking at a sewer dedication ceremony in Warren, Mich., said: "I'm not at all concerned at attempting to unite the typical draft-dodger with the rest of the country."

"I'd rather see the rest of the country—literally hundreds of thousands of people who did serve—united in a conviction that they did the right thing and that their country appreciates what they did," he said.

McGovern said at East Brunswick, N.J., that while he understands "the agony of a parent who has lost a son they love in this war ... we cannot bring a single mother's son back from a Vietnamese grave by keeping another mother's son in Canadian exile."

Sargent Shriver, the Democratic candidate for vice president, referred to the war Tuesday, saying he welcomed the prospect of a peace agreement, but added: "The price which we will have to pay for that piece of paper—which we don't have as yet—I think is exorbitant."

Campaigning in San Francisco, Shriver said: "If that's peace with honor, I'd like to know what surrender is." He also said, "I don't see any difference between what President Nixon announced and what he denounced four years ago. I don't see the difference between what he's got and what he used to call surrender."

President Nixon is scheduled to make a radio speech on urban problems today and a nationwide television-radio speech is scheduled Thursday night.

McGovern, who appeared in New Jersey and New York with Sen. Edward Kennedy Tuesday, will address a rally in New York's garment district today. He will fly later to Hibbing, Minn. and Chicago.

Shriver was in Portland, Ore., and planned to campaign today at Seattle; Missoula, Mont., and Champaign-Urbana, Ill.

Investigate
Vandalism,
Theft Cases

Even though nine thefts and two instances of vandalism were reported to Sedalia police Tuesday and Wednesday, authorities said Halloween vandalism was at a minimum Tuesday night. Sedalia Police Chief William Miller said only minor mischief could be attributed to trick-or-treaters.

Cars owned by Anthony S. Negron and Joyce Craig, and Dorothy Negron, all listing addresses at 2700 South Woodlawn, were reported damaged at 2:30 a.m. Wednesday. All four tires on both cars were slashed, police reported. The windshield and a left rear door glass on the car owned by Negron were also reported broken. Police estimated damage to Negron's car at $610 and the other car at $200.

Russell Tucker, 319 East Boonville, told police that while he was unlocking the door at his residence someone approached him from the rear and hit him on the head, taking $140 from his billfold. Tucker said the incident happened at 5:26 a.m. Wednesday.

Police reported two aluminum lawn chairs and a pumpkin were taken about 11:30 p.m. Tuesday from the front porch of the Mrs. Felix Melvin residence, 2500 South Ohio. The chairs were valued at $15.

A total of $485.90 of stereo tapes and speakers were reported stolen from a car owned by Gloria Kindel, 2522 North Woodlawn. Police said the equipment was taken between 10:30 p.m. and midnight Tuesday while the car was parked at Broadway Lanes, 2119 West Broadway. Reported stolen were 70 tapes valued at $6 each and two speakers valued at $32.95 each.

William A. Carver, Stover, reported the theft Tuesday night of two firearms from his pickup truck. Reported taken were a Winchester 20 gauge shotgun valued at $100 and a Remington .22 caliber automatic rifle valued at $50. Police said entry to the truck, which was parked at Third and Lamine, was obtained by breaking a window.

In another theft from a pickup truck, Glen Smith Jr., Clinton, told police that $101.85 worth of wrenches, sockets and other tools were taken Monday night from a tool box in the rear of the truck, which was parked at Broadway and Center. Smith told police the tool box was locked, but authorities reported finding no signs of forcible entry.

Police said 10 packs of cigarettes were taken Tuesday night from a cigarette machine at a laundromat at Harrison and Main. Damage to the machine was estimated at $25.

Mrs. C.J. Dillard, 2209 South Harrison, told police that eggs were thrown on the front porch of her residence at 7:07 p.m. Tuesday.

Pearl Speiser, 1000 West 16th, reported vandals tipped over rock wall on her property and threw pumpkin pie at her house. Police reports stated that vandalism occurred between Saturday and Monday.

A total of 24 stereo tapes were reported stolen from a car owned by Dennis Nicholson, Route 3, Monday night, while the vehicle was parked in the 600 block of East Third.

was better to listen to candidates than read about them in newspapers and magazines.

Bill Beykirch said he "was glad to have the opportunity to hear them all speak." Denise Grob agreed that "it was very educational ... it gives us all a lot of things to think about."

The students will have the opportunity Thursday to carry out their "exercise in democracy" to its ultimate conclusion as polls will be set up for a mock election. True to its realistic simulation of the political process, only students who have "registered" during the past week will be eligible to cast their ballots.

Thousands Involved
In Protest

BOSTON (AP) — Several thousand antiwar demonstrators smashed windows, burned a car and clashed with riot-equipped police outside a Republican fundraising dinner attended by Pat Nixon.

An estimated 6,000 persons attended the $25 per plate affair inside Commonwealth Armory Tuesday night, while police estimated that as many as 8,000 persons demonstrated outside.

The President's wife, in a brief speech, thanked those who attended the dinner and said her husband needed another four years in office to "make this great country what we all want it to be."

A man and a woman wearing campaign buttons of Democratic presidential nominee George McGovern began shouting "stop international genocide" during her speech. They were led from the hall, but police said they were not arrested.

Demonstrators, many of whom marched about 1 1/2 miles to the armory from Copley Square, staged a protest that lasted nearly four hours.

They blocked automobile and trolley traffic along Commonwealth Avenue, smashed storefront and car windows, shouted slogans and obscenities and were not dispersed until after a car owned by the Boston Herald Traveler and Record American was set afire.

One officer received a head injury in the fray and several other minor injuries were reported.

At least seven persons were arrested, most on charges of disorderly conduct.

Mrs. Nixon entered the building by a rear door and was not seen by the demonstrators.

Suspected Arson
In LaMonte Fire

LaMONTE — Arson was listed as the cause of a fire here at 2:20 a.m. Wednesday that destroyed an abandoned residence, Fire Chief Dick Mills said Wednesday. Mills said the fire was the first residential fire in LaMonte in "seven or eight" years.

He said that when firemen arrived at the scene the "house was beyond saving." Firemen allowed the house to burn to the ground, and put the smoldering ruins under control at 3:30 a.m., he added. Fifteen volunteer firemen were called to the scene.

Mills said that although he found no signs of a deliberately-set fire, he suspects arson because of the rapidity in which the blaze spread.

The fire chief said the house is owned by Irene Kappelman and relatives of rural LaMonte.

Continue Search For More Bodies

UKIAH, Calif. (AP) — Sheriff's investigators continue their search today for more bodies on a tree-screened ranch which a state attorney says is rumored to be a "burying ground" for the Hell's Angels motorcycle gang.

The remains of two men and a woman already have been found on the ranch in what Dick Adams, special assistant to state Atty. Gen. Evelle J. Younger, said were originally well holes.

"Since there are other similar holes in the area, these will now be examined, although we do not have specific information concerning additional bodies," Adams said.

Investigators used earth moving equipment to search the area where the bodies were found alongside a circular driveway leading to the house.

The owners of the rolling ranch land three miles southwest of Ukiah where the three bodies were discovered Monday night, George "Baby Huey" Wethern and his wife Helen, have been charged with possession and sale of drugs. Wethern also was charged with possessing stolen property.

Wethern, 33, and his 29-year-old wife were being held at the Mendocino County jail in lieu of $100,000 bail each.

No one connected with the investigation has linked Wethern to membership in the Hell's Angels.

Younger said the search for bodies on the Wethern ranch began "in response to rumors the area was being used as a Hell's Angels burying ground."

Adams added that "some of the victims were believed to have been murdered by several members of the Hell's Angels, and Contra Costa County has issued warrants of arrest for these subjects."

However, Contra Costa Dist. Atty. William A. O'Malley denied warrants had been issued, and Mendocino County Sheriff Reno Bartolomei said it was still uncertain how the three victims died.

"George Wethern apparently gave a statement to some investigators yesterday in which he confirmed certain details of a report they had previously received that there were some bodies buried on his land on Boonville Road," public defender Joseph Allen, appointed temporarily to represent the Wetherns, said Tuesday.

"We don't know how they died," Allen said, "but the attitude of the sheriff and district attorney definitely indicates they don't suspect natural causes."

Asked if he could state the three did not die of natural causes, Bartolomei replied: "I'm not even sure about that."

Barker Convicted

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Watergate defendant Bernard L. Barker was convicted today of misusing a notary public seal on a Republican campaign check and received a suspended 60-day jail term.

Judge Paul Baker handed down the sentence after hearing without a jury state charges that Barker misused his seal on a $25,000 check which was to have gone to President Nixon's re-election campaign.

Postpone Jury Trial

The jury trial of James Wayne Hayes, 26, 405 East Jackson, originally scheduled for Wednesday in Pettis County Circuit Court, has been continued, Bill Lyles, circuit clerk, said.

Hayes is charged with issuing an insufficient funds check for more than $100. A new trial date was not announced.

Hayes alleged issued a $227.60 check March 31 to the Goodyear Tire and Rubber Co., 601 South Old

Bond Discusses Views on Issues With Associated Press

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — State Auditor Christopher S. Bond, Republican candidate for governor, discusses his views, from government patronage to state subsidies for recycling centers, in the following interview with the Associated Press.

AP—You have mentioned setting up a statewide criminal investigation unit. Would it be under the attorney general, highway patrol or the governor? If it is under the new Department of Public Safety, the governor still would have much control. Have you thought of ways to keep such a criminal investigation unit free of partisan politics?

Bond—My thought about the criminal investigation unit is that it best be lodged under the Department of Public Safety. I think there is a built-in check in having it under an executive department. The attorney general would have to provide the legal support for such an agency and the governor's appointee would be responsible for operation of the agency. In any type of state agency the question of partisan politics is one that comes up only because of the people who are appointed.

In this agency, as in all others, I would appoint professionals with the expressed understanding that they are to run a professional operation and not a political operation. It would be under the merit system, with the exception of the director.

AP—You have suggested that Missouri have regional, medium security prison facilities. Where would the money for their construction come from in view of the fact you have said we don't need a tax increase?

Bond—The money for construction of regional correctional facilities—not necessarily just medium security facilities—would come from the funds available because of the surplus we will have at the end of the current fiscal year and from revenue sharing. Because of a miscalculation by the executive branch this year, even without revenue sharing, Missouri would have a substantial surplus of over $30 million at the end of this year. There will be in addition be funds available from revenue sharing. In the proposals I have made for spending this surplus I have included money for construction and operation of these facilities.

AP—How many are needed, and where?

Bond—I think you have to start off with one or two. I think that what's needed is to develop them first in St. Louis and Kansas City. And perhaps some of the existing facilities could be taken over in those areas.

AP—How about the Springfield area?

Bond—That would be a logical next step. First, we have to determine how many inmates come from the Springfield area.

AP—Do you think President Nixon's popularity in Missouri will help you and do you think you can attract many of the disenfranchised Democrats and independents?

Bond—There is no question that President Nixon will run very well in Missouri and will carry it by a substantial margin. Missourians are ticket splitters, however, and I don't think there is any clear coattail effect.

***

I hope to appeal to a large number of voters who are Nixon voters but I also think I can appeal to McGovern voters, and those who are uncommitted in the presidential race. I don't think it's going to be a straight party line vote. Polls have shown that about 40 per cent of the electorate considers themselves to be Democrats ... about 800,000.

I had to have Democratic votes in 1970 to win the auditor's race. And I hope for Democratic votes and independents, as well as Republicans, in this race. The northeast and southeast polls were most encouraging. (Polls in those areas, traditionally Democratic, showed Bond ahead.)

AP—Government patronage has been an issue in this campaign. Would you ask the General Assembly to pass a merit system law covering those 3,000 or so workers under the patronage system?

Bond—Not only a merit system enacted by the legislature is necessary to get rid of the spoils system in state government. The executive also has the power to establish personnel policies in existing patronage agencies. I would do what I did in this office, and that is to retain people in office on the basis of their qualifications, regardless of their party affiliation, and I would insist that any who were hired have the qualifications to do the job. This, I think, is the major change in the patronage system that is coming this time.

We have, in the attorney general's office and the auditor's office, abolished the required certification that you are a loyal party Democrat. We have abolished the enforced lag, where the campaign contribution is a percentage of the salary that has to be made to the party in power to keep the job. Those two things more than anything else are responsible for the abuses in Missouri government. They are not fair to those who serve in government and they certainly are not fair to the taxpayers who pay for government.

AP—You have 80 employees, 18 Democrats, in the auditor's office. Mr. Dowd has said you dismissed many Democrats when you took office, and you have said you selected employees on the basis of ability. Were any Republicans dismissed or retained when you took over the auditor's office?

Bond—That question is very easy to answer because there were no Republicans in the auditor's office when I took over. Every single person in this office had to be certified as a Democrat. Every single person had to contribute to the party on a regular basis, and every person in this office had to pay a special assessment for campaign purposes in the fall of 1970.

We gave jobs to 33 persons who wanted to stay on. Over a third of the people in the office indicated they did not want to serve in my administration. Of the remainder, all had an opportunity for an interview with a Certified Public Accountant or with the person in charge of the clerical operation, and based on their demonstrated competence, those who were most capable were given jobs. Those who did not have the capability were not given jobs. Mr. Dowd's statements about my hiring policies in this office are deliberate distortions of the truth and show a disregard for the facts.

AP—If elected, what department heads would you immediately seek to replace, if any?

Bond—The Department of Revenue is obviously the most poorly run department in state government and there would be a major change in top supervisory levels of the department of revenue. Also, the Department of Agriculture.

These are operated on a narrow, partisan basis, without the professional competence of supervision and these department heads would be replaced immediately. In other departments where the governor has the directive of appointment power, there would have to be discussion with these department heads as to whether they could serve under my views of government or whether these people were the best people in the field.

These two—the Department of Revenue and Agriculture—are the obvious ones. The comptroller's office also, and the director of planning and construction. These people serve under the director of the Department of Revenue.

AP—Have you given thought to the appointment of a new auditor if you are elected, or will the outgoing governor have authority to appoint a new auditor?

Bond—I will have the responsibility. I think it's clear that this office does not become vacant until I am sworn in as governor. The assumption of the second office according to dictum in Missouri Supreme Court cases, operates as a resignation. So there is no vacancy in the auditor's office until I become governor. The act of becoming governor would be the thing that creates the vacancy.

AP—In the field of conservation, how do you feel about a soft drink tax of a penny a bottle to finance expanded conservation efforts? What are your proposals for increased conservation efforts? What do you think about Missouri making such things as flip-top aluminum cans illegal, as Oregon has?

Bond—I could not support the soft drink tax because I felt that the governmental principle of earmarking a tax in one area to support an activity in another area is not a sound government principle. I think the conservation activities in the state are very important. I would foresee increasing state appropriations from general revenue with the money available from federal revenue sharing, to accomplish those conservation programs which the legislature and the executive branch agree upon. I feel it is necessary for expanding the activities in the conservation area to go through the same appropriation process that other major appropriation programs go through.

I think one of the great prospects in this area is for state-supported and encouraged recycling efforts. I visited the Kirkwood recycling center in St. Louis County. They have bins available for the various kinds of trash. And they have pickup services.

They sell much of the material to recyclers. In some parts of the state, transportation costs are so high that recycling cannot be done at a profit. I think there the state should step in with operating subsidies for recycling facilities to encourage communities to develop recycling centers. Aluminum cans can and in many places, are, being recycled. This to me is something that's going to take a great deal of citizen participation, state support and community leadership.

***

AP—You have suggested, as has Mr. Dowd, that there ought to be a ceiling on campaigns. You said you expect to spend between $400,000 and $500,000. What would be a reasonable ceiling on the governor's race?

Bond—The present state law provides a limitation on the amount of money that can be spent in a campaign. Applying that to the number of voters in the last gubernatorial campaign I think the ceiling comes out to be about $450,000 for a statewide campaign.

The problem is that under the present law, this limit can be reached by any number of committees, so that it is, in effect, no real limitation ... We will, I imagine, be spending the limit for one committee, in total. And we are, quite clearly, spending anywhere near as much as the opposition.

AP—Mr. Dowd, a week ago, said he would spend between $175,000 and $200,000 on his campaign.

Bond—That is ridiculous on its face. He reported spending a little over $200,000 in the primary. But the Globe-Democrat's check of spending figures showed that he had exceeded that in his television. He exceeded the amount he reported to have spent on television by some $30,000, and he didn't report any of his expenditures prior to May 9. We have reported all our expenditures from the day I announced and it was about $192,000 (up to the primary). Mr. Dowd has a heavy showing of billboards and radio and TV and newspaper advertising. It is a comment on credibility rather than on campaign spending.

I think all contributions raised or spent during a campaign should be reported. I think the 90-day time limit should be abolished. There ought to be reasonable safeguards to ensure that a large sum of money is not raised prior to the official start of a campaign and then spent. And I think that could very easily be done by saying that money spent after a campaign begins must be reported both on the expenditure side and the contribution side. Thus, I have proposed a bipartisan state elections and ethics commission which would have as one of its responsibilities the investigation of irregularities in this field. In a position paper, I set forth reforms to close loopholes such as the payment by third parties of campaign expenses.

***

In 1964—the Wall Street Journal found out about three years later—the Steamfitters spent a quarter of a million dollars on behalf of Gov. (Warren) Hearnes' election in payments to ward organizations which were never reported. So the people of Missouri never knew during that campaign how much was spent on his behalf. Whether that same system is going on right now we cannot know because there are no reports being made.

AP—If elected, you might be working with a Democratic secretary of state and a Democratic lieutenant governor. Do you foresee any problems, for example, if there is a Democratic state treasurer, in light of the controversy between the auditor's office and the treasurer's office regarding holding accounts in certain banks?

***

Bond—The Republican statewide ticket includes a group of men of whom I'm extremely proud and who I think are persons who would make outstanding office holders. Whether they will all be elected or not I don't know. I certainly hope that Missouri will want a complete change and will make a thorough change in state government. Should it happen that I'm working with any Democratic office holders, I would make every effort to work with them and I would assume from what I know of the gentlemen on the other side that they would make every effort to work with our administration also.

Right now, for instance, I have been able to work very well with the Democratic secretary of state. There are no conflicts between our offices. The state treasurer, of course, is a little closer to the operations of state government. And the lieutenant governor has the power of the governor at times and should be a working member of the administration.

I favor a change in the Constitution of Missouri, as has been done in other progressive states, to elect the governor and lieutenant governor together (on one party ticket) because they do have to be a working team.

AP—You have said that education is a high priority for spending of federal revenue sharing money. Along that line, what do you see as your biggest goals in the next four years, if elected governor?

Bond—Education very clearly is a high priority item for spending, for the additional money that becomes available. We should be increasing the state support for local schools. The cases which will be coming before the Supreme Court I think, will have a result of saying you cannot have disparities in the amount of money spent per pupil in different school districts within the same state.

In Missouri, right now, we have the dubious distinction of having the fourth highest disparity of any state in the nation. Mount Zion School District in Laclede County was something like $290 per pupil as opposed to $1,700 in Clayton. I think one way to correct the disparity is by continuing to increase the amount of state support for local schools, retaining, of course, the necessary local control.

In addition, the other priority programs for spending would include tax relief for the elderly. I think we must have a circuit-breaker type of tax relief that gives a tax credit for the low income elderly for a direct payment from the state to return part of the property taxes paid by those elderly who do not owe any income taxes.

In addition, we must fund fully the Medicaid payments for the indigent elderly in nursing homes. We are living on borrowed money from the federal government right now. We can't keep doing that. There are many other needs such as providing adequate salaries for employees in the mental health field, providing the necessary probation and parole services, building regional correctional facilities, providing assistant for the cities in terms of state support for the development of mass transit systems in the metropolitan areas.

AP—If the U.S. Supreme Court orders some type of realignment on reliance upon local property taxes for school support, would you be in favor of increasing the school foundation money (state tax money for schools)?

Bond—Right, we would change the distribution formula, increase from $339 million to however much we can, to put more money into the poorer districts.

AP—Then you are cool to the idea of a statewide property tax?

Bond—I think it takes away from local support. I also think it would be more difficult for assessment and collection.

AP—Do you think the new transportation department should have authority over airports? Highways?

Bond—Yes, and water ports. Ports, but not highways. The Constitutional Reorganization Amendment set up a distinction between the transportation department and the highway department. This will require a very close working relationship between the two, because obviously, where you put an airport or where you terminate a mass transit facility will require close cooperation. But I think other forms of transportation should be under the transportation department.

(In Penney's Basement)

Our new catalog, and what the other catalogs hope you never find out about us.

Long before consumerism was invented, we've had a thing about highest quality at lowest prices.

It's the only way we've operated since James Cash Penney opened his first Golden Rule Store back in 1902.

But giving you a bigger dollar's worth isn't the only reason there are now almost seventeen hundred J.C. Penney stores. Or why we've suddenly become America's fastest growing catalog.

What really sets us apart is people. Experts with years of experience who make the decisions on each of the hundred thousand things we offer. Even the slightest doubt about any item is enough to get it shipped to our Test Center. There the standards are so tough some of the big name national brands would have trouble getting an O.K.

Everything you'd expect in a great catalog is in our catalog. Furniture, drapery, bedding, fashions—including hard-to-find extra sizes. But you'll also discover a lot of things you didn't expect. A home gymnasium. A complete wine making kit. An outdoor waterfall. A fisherman's depth finder. An electric organ. Pages of creative crafts. And much more.

And, of course, you can use your J.C. Penney Charge on any order. If you don't have one, take a few moments to fill out an application when you pick up your free catalog.

Once your order is received, we really go to work. We check and double check to make sure you get exactly what you want, and that it gets to you the way you want it.

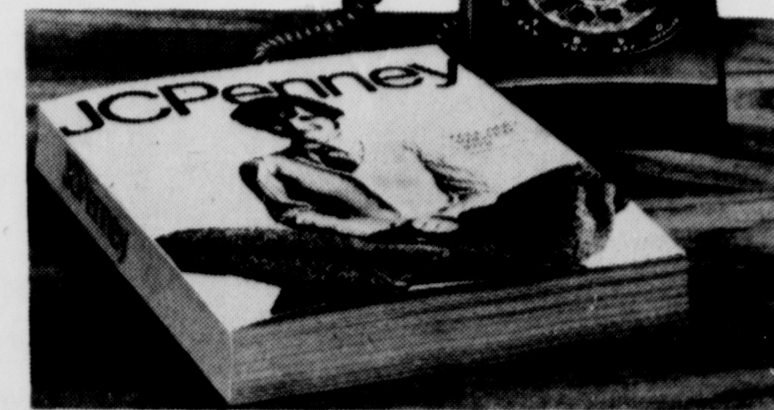

Fashions, for instance, are never packed in advance. We keep them on hangers until the very last minute. Then we rush them right out to you.

What's more, all of our items are fully described. We try to anticipate everything you could possibly want to know. About the product. The price. The guarantee. Having our new Fall/Winter Catalog is like having a great store at your fingertips. And all you have to do to order is pick up your telephone.

So, now that you've found out what the other catalogs hoped you wouldn't, why not go a step further. Order something from our catalog. Preferably, something you'd normally order from another catalog. That way, you'll find out fast whether we're as good as we say.

Q — I'd like to know if Alpha Sintered Metals is going to be allowed the same special tax status as Duke and Permaneer plants. What is the wage scale they are now paying at their present location? Will they pay the same wage scale here, or will it be lower or higher? The advertisements are being put out by the Committee for New Industry, listing Bill Hall as chairman. Isn't Mr. Hall being paid a salary by the people of Sedalia to promote new industry? Would any of the other members of this committee care to make their identities public? If not, are there any other members? — Mrs. R.C.

A — "Under the law as it now stands," Hall said, "the same tax situation applies to Alpha Sintered as to the city's four other bond issue industries (Permaneer, Duke, Rival and Town and Country). Hall added that a bill was submitted in the last two sessions of the state legislature which would require bonded industries to make the payments to the city in lieu of and equivalent to tax payments which they may be exempt from. This proposal, however has died in committee.

Hall said he did not know the wage scale of the firm's home plant in Pennsylvania but said that their local wage scale "would, of course, have to be competitive." Hall, who is employed by the city to encourage the location of industry here, said no formal committee has been organized, as was the case with the four previous industrial bond elections. Hall attributed this to the fact that individuals who would otherwise serve on the committee are currently involved in political campaign activities. He declined to name any members of the unofficial committee.

Q — Why wasn't the driver of a car that collided with the rear of a police department motorcycle ticketed for her part in an accident that occurred recently? — C.B.

A — The investigating police officer has the option to issue a summons, Police Chief William Miller said. "There's a lot of circumstances the investigating officer must consider. Just because a person hits a police vehicle doesn't mean that they automatically get a ticket," he said.

Q — Can anything be done to improve the hazardous railroad crossing on Ohio just north of Main? Who's responsible to see that the crossings are kept in good repair? There is also a hazardous crossing further west on those tracks at Kentucky. — L.T.

A — Police Chief Miller said it is the railroad's responsibility to see that the tracks and boards are kept in good shape. He said all the city can do is request that the railroad make the necessary repairs. Miller said that at the next traffic committee meeting he will propose to the group that a formal request be sent to the railroad asking that repairs be made at the railroad crossings you mentioned.

Q — I was under the impression that if shrubbery blocked a driver's view of any street crossing, the owner would be forced to cut it down. That is the problem at West 10th and State Fair Blvd. How come this situation exists? — L.D.

A — Police Chief Miller said he would personally look into this matter and demand that the owner of the shrubbery in question cut the plants if the driver's view is impaired at the intersection.

Q — I read with interest where the Rival Manufacturing Co. has acquired more property for expansion. Where will they park? We the tax payers and homeowners in surrounding residential areas are wondering if there will be any restrictions and provisions for parking for their employees.

It seems to me with this expansion, they should provide parking space in their area, so our streets wouldn't be so congested. — E.P.

A — Plant Manager Vernon Rodick said the firm has no plans for immediate expansion. According to Rodick, there are "vacant spaces in the lot now...but we can't control where our employees park." He added that if additional parking space was deemed necessary after future expansion, it would be created.

Vacant House Is Destroyed During Night

A vacant log house, located one mile east of Highway 65 on Route BB near Longwood, was destroyed by fire about 10 p.m. Tuesday night.

The building, which Pettis County fire department officials said had been unoccupied for 25 to 30 years, was owned by Mrs. Robert Nichols, Marshall Junction.

Fire department spokesman said arson "by Halloweeners" is suspected in the incident but indicated the department planned no further investigation.

Danforth Acting Against Dealers

ST. CHARLES, Mo. (AP) — Atty. Gen. John C. Danforth Tuesday filed civil suits against two auto dealers charging they turned back mileage meters on used cars to conceal the actual mileage.

The suits, filed in circuit court here, named Mercram, Inc., which operates under the name of Gateway Mercury, and Stuart Singer, doing business as Estate Garage in Overland, Mo.

Diabetes Detection Clinic Here

A diabetes detection clinic is scheduled for 6 to 9 a.m., Nov. 11, at the National Guard Armory, Ninth and Ohio, it was announced Tuesday by the Sedalia-Pettis County branch of the Central Missouri Diabetes Association.

Those desiring to take the one hour and 15 minute test, are advised to eat a high carbohydrate diet three days before the test is to be given. This includes pies, cookies, jelly, candy and carbonated beverages, in addition to normal diet items such as meat, potatoes, vegetables, bread and fruit.

However, prospective participants must refrain from eating and drinking (except water) 10 hours before the test.

The test consists of drinking glucose, waiting an hour, then having a sample of blood taken from the finger and analyzed.

Those people encouraged to take the test include persons having a family history of diabetes, having a history of sugar in the urine or a tendency toward diabetes, women who have had babies weighing more than nine pounds or who had stillbirths, and those over 40 who are about 20 pounds or more overweight.

All participants must be over 18 years old.

Those desiring to take the test should contact the public health nurse, 827-1130, between 8:30 to 12 a.m. and from 1 to 4:30 p.m. for an appointment.

Position On Funds Explained

B. A. Fischer, presiding judge of the Pettis County Court, said Wednesday he had "formulated a position on the spending of this (revenue sharing) money" after attending a seminar in Marshall Tuesday along with two other county officials.

"I have previously reserved comment on the spending of federal revenue sharing money," Fischer said. Now, however, "I believe that there are certain capital expenditures, such as for the replacement and updating of some county roads and bridges, the solid waste disposal problem and others, which should be made from these federal funds," he said.

"I firmly believe that the balance of this money should be used to provide the taxpayers of this county with tax relief in the form of a reduction in the county tax levy," Fischer said. He did not elaborate on this point.

E. L. Birdsong, eastern district judge, and Ed Hall, Pettis County road engineer, also attended the meeting.

Paul F. Dow, executive director of the Missouri Association of Counties, explained in detail the uses counties could make of the federal revenue sharing funds.

Fischer reported that Dow indicated the general rule is to use such money for capital improvements and not merely for maintenance. "It was pointed out that the line between capital expenditures and maintenance is sometimes a fine one and will require further interpretation," Fischer said.

Speaker

Lloyd Satterwhite, of the farm supply division of the Missouri Farmers Association, will be the guest speaker at the annual meeting of the Sedalia MFA Exchange at 7 p.m. Nov. 10 at Washington School. Satterwhite will illustrate his talk with colored slides of the MFA Research Farm, it was reported. Sam Young, manager of the Exchange, will make his membership report. Election of officers will also be held.

PITTSBURGH (AP) — U.S. Steel Corp., the nation's leading steel producer, reports it earned $30.9 million in the third quarter of 1972, compared with a loss of $21.5 million in the corresponding period a year ago.

Third quarter sales totaled $1.34 billion, up from $1.06 billion, while earnings per share were put at 57 cents, compared with a loss of 39 cents a share for the 1971 third quarter.

But U.S. Steel said Tuesday the improved third quarter still left the company lagging behind last year's earnings pace.

Net income for the first nine months of 1972 was $102.31 million, or $1.89 a share, down from the same period last year when net income reached $108.08 million, or $2 a share.

Nine-month sales, however, were up from $3.88 billion to $3.91 billion.

Board Chairman Edwin H. Gott attributed the slackening profits to rising costs, including increased wages and pension costs which took effect Aug. 1.

The company said "the improvement in earnings as compared with the loss in the depressed third quarter of 1971 was expected."

Farm Roundup

Farmers Supporting President in Election

By DON KENDALL
AP Farm Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — A survey of midwestern farmers in early October by Doane Agricultural Service, Inc., showed President Nixon favored by more than three to one over Sen. George McGovern, the Democratic candidate.

The poll was made during the first 10 days of October. It showed Nixon was favored by 66.0 per cent of the farmers, compared with McGovern who got 17.6 per cent.

According to Doane, a St. Louis firm specializing in agricultural affairs, 12.8 per cent of the farmers were undecided and 3.6 per cent favored "other" candidates.

The survey, announced Monday, here and in St. Louis, also showed 73.9 per cent of the farmers in 12 states preferred the current government "set-aside" program for controlling crop acreages; 11.9 wanted tighter controls, and 14.2 were undecided.

Doane officials said the survey questions were mailed to 5,300 members of the company's "farm panel" used normally to collect data for other agricultural research projects.

Some 2,735 responses were returned. From those, Doane said, projections were made to give state and regional figures. The questionnaires went only to "commercial" type farmers, or those selling at least $2,500 worth of products annually.

Doane said its research showed a total of 850,145 commercial farms in the 12-state area. Using the poll's projections, Nixon at the time of the survey was favored by 549,074 farmers to McGovern's 146,724.

Excluding the undecided vote and other candidates, the following Nixon-McGovern preferences were reported:

Nebraska—Nixon 60.7 per cent and McGovern 16.4; Wisconsin—66.5 per cent and 20.4; Minnesota—61.7 per cent and 21.2; Missouri—66.8 per cent and 21.2; Mississippi—66.8 per cent and 15.7; Iowa—64.7 per cent and 11.6; Illinois—74.7 per cent and 12.4; Indiana—72.6 per cent and 10.5; and Ohio—68.4 per cent and 14.3.

Doane officials said the results in North Dakota and South Dakota were too small for individual projections. Combined, however, the two states showed: Nixon 50.4 per cent and McGovern 36.0.

Michigan was the 12th state, and results also were too scanty for individual projections, Doane said. Its tabulations, however, were included in the 12-state totals.

WASHINGTON (AP) — A national cotton advisory committee will meet with Agriculture Department officials Thursday to discuss possible additional features for the 1973 cotton "set-aside" acreage program.

Items to be discussed include production goals for next year, the national base acreage allotment and the amount of aside land farmers will have to take from production to qualify for price support and payment benefits.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The use of commercial fertilizer in the United States and Puerto Rico last season totaled 41.3 million tons, up slightly from 41.1 million a year earlier, the Agriculture Department said Monday.

Request Ruling

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court has been asked to decide whether compulsory chapel attendance at three U.S. military academies is unconstitutional.

The government appealed Monday from a U.S. Circuit Court ruling that compulsory church attendance at the academies violates the 1st Amendment.

Solicitor General Erwin N. Griswold appealed on behalf of the Army, Navy and Air Force.

"No cadet or midshipman is required to believe what he hears," he said. "No one is subjected to a catechism by governmental authority, but all students are required to gain an appreciation of our moral and religious heritage."

"The academies' chapel-attendance requirements are a valid exercise of authority by the military over its own personnel," he said. "They restrict 1st Amendment interests only to the extent necessary to vindicate legitimate military needs."

Chief Judge David Bazelon of the Circuit Court for the District of Columbia noted in his ruling last June that the 1st Amendment provides that "Congress shall make no law respecting an establishment of religion."

"Individual freedom may not be sacrificed to military interests to the point that constitutional rights are abolished," he said.

The appeal will be considered early next year.

Truck Driver Will

Aids Government

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U.S. Government became $85,000 richer Monday, thanks to the terms of a will of a retired St. Louis truck driver who died last January.

William Meitz, 81, willed that his life savings be turned over to the government. He was a bachelor who lived alone for many years.

While working at the Beck and Corbitt Trucking Co., Meitz bought many $100 savings bonds. Most of the money in his estate was turned over to federal officials Monday by Frank E. Fitzsimmons, international president of the Teamsters Union.

TREAD WEAR EXPECTANCY

Because of variable driving habits and road conditions under which tires are used, it is impractical for Montgomery Ward, and conceivably misleading to our customers, to guarantee any specific number of months or miles of tread wear. We can, however, indicate the wear potential we have built into our tires in terms of service in normal family use. If a Riverside tire wears down to the tread wear indicators during the Tread Wear Expectancy, Montgomery Ward will upon presentation of the tire and evidence of date of purchase replace the tire for the then current price less the following dollar allowance:

Tread Wear Expectancy	Tread Wearout Allowance

Couple Enjoys Extended Cruise

By ROSEMARY SINGLETON
Kitchener-Waterloo . . . . . Record
Writer

WATERLOO, Ont. (AP) — Don and Jean Salter are back from an 11-month, 10,000-mile cruise in their sloop.

To make their long-time dream come true, they sold their home and 37 acres of farm land and Dr. Salter took a year's leave of absence from his job as professor of earth science at the University of Waterloo.

His wife says: "You can do anything in this world if you're willing to sacrifice."

The couple bought their 31-foot sloop in England. They sailed from Falmouth to Spain, to Portugal and the Canary Islands, then across the Atlantic to the West Indies, the Virgin Islands, Puerto Rico and the Bahamas.

They carried a short wave radio but no transmitter because they say people should be able to get themselves out of trouble without involving others.

Both can navigate using a sextant.

Their sloop, the Tarnimara, has a main cabin which houses the galley and a corner for navigation work and a forward cabin.

They carried water in an 85-gallon earthenware jug hung in the rigging to keep cool.

Mrs. Salter made bread every other day. They caught fish and carried dried meat, vegetables and fruit, bacon, eggs, butter and milk.

"We coated 12 dozen fresh eggs with petroleum jelly when we left Falmouth," Dr. Salter said. "They kept fresh for three months without refrigeration. Thirty-six pounds of New Zealand canned butter kept well for seven or eight months. The Canary Islands supplied us with fresh oranges which were still tasty at the end of the 26-day Atlantic crossing."

Mrs. Salter said her favorite food purchase was nine gallons of long-life milk bought in pint cartons in England. It kept fresh for six months.

They learned to use conch meat, which provides a source of protein for people in isolated islands. Mrs. Salter served it in chowders and ground with onion as a sea-going "steak tartare."

Her husband said: "Jean's conch fritters were mouth-watering."

The Salters have decided that once the initial outlay for a boat and supplies is made, life at sea is cheaper than maintaining a house. In warm climates there is no fuel bill and mooring fees are less than taxes.

Wardrobes are simple. Aboard the sloop, Mrs. Salter wore jeans or a bikini.

"I wore out two bikinis. It's a simple and inexpensive wardrobe."

Domestic Wine Use Surpasses Imports

By TOM HOGE
AP Newsfeatures Writer
Foreign restaurants continue to crop up in New York and other cities throughout the United States, with diners eagerly sampling dishes from faraway lands. But when the wine list is submitted, more and more patrons are passing up the imports in favor of a bottle from an American vineyard.

Americans, who shunned table wine not many years ago, now consume a whopping 300 million gallons a year. And 75 per cent of it comes from California, according to statistics for 1971.

Wine was introduced to California by Spanish missionaries in the middle of the 17th century. It was produced by vintners who had been trained for the most part in Europe and who imported their wines from France and Germany.

For their red wines, they brought in the Pinot Noir and Gamay from Burgundy and the Cabernet Sauvignon from Bordeaux. For the whites, they chose the Pinot Blanc and the Pinot Chardonnay from Burgundy, the Semillon and Sauvignon Blanc from Bordeaux and the Sylvaner, Traminer and white Riesling from Alsace.

Some experts contend that the principal virtue of California's wines lies in the fact that the combination of weather and soil in that state produces wines of exceptionally even quality year in and year out. In contrast, the wines of Europe vary greatly from year to year, with some great offerings and some poor ones.

It is an ironic fact that, whereas American wine-grape growers imported their vine cuttings from Europe in the first place, a plague struck the European vineyards late in the 19th century and the European vintners had to come to America for their cuttings.

Not many California wines are allowed to mature in the bottle like their European counterparts, which is why we do not have any great vintages. This is largely because the vintners here have to pay a tax on their warehouse inventory every year and to keep a large stock on the premises becomes costly and boosts the price to the consumer. But even this is changing.

In the Livermore Valley area, for instance, one vineyard is now offering a full bodied 1967 Mountain Zinfandel and a sturdy 1966 Pinot Noir.

Vintages aside, the robust wines of California's countryside are coming into their own like the simple, but satisfying country wines of France. Examples are the fruity Vino Rustico and the crisp, golden Orobianco from the central coastal area of California. Such wines lend themselves to cooking as well as drinking, as evidenced by this chicken dish.

CHICKEN WITH CERVELATA
8 chicken breasts
2 pounds of Cervelata (cheese-flavored Italian sausage)
1/2 cup olive oil
2 cloves garlic
24 ounces Orobianco
2 ounces dried mushrooms

Soak mushrooms in 8 ounces warm water and put aside. Put olive oil and garlic in large Dutch oven and brown garlic, then remove. Place chicken and sausage in the Dutch oven and add salt and pepper to taste. Brown chicken and sausage on all sides, then add mushrooms and their juice. Simmer another 10 minutes and add the wine. Cook 5 minutes with cover on and another 10 minutes without cover. Serve on platter with sausage around chicken breasts. Serves 8 persons. Good with a California Pinot Blanc, or an Orobianco.

Potato and Onion Dish Is From French Cuisine

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor
DEAR CECILY: I've looked for a recipe for Potatoes Lyonnaise that gives detailed directions but haven't found one. Can you help me out?—TEXAS COOK.

DEAR TEXAS COOK: Yes. Recipes for Potatoes Lyonnaise, the French dish, are inclined to be a little vague. But here is one that gives every detail. It is authentic, too, because it is made according to one of the two methods outlined in Larousse Gastronomique, the famous French culinary encyclopedia. —C.B.

POTATOES LYONNAISE
2 pounds (6 medium) potatoes
Boiling water
1/2 cup butter
1 1/2 cups thin strips sweet Spanish onion
1 teaspoon salt
1/2 to 1/4 teaspoon pepper

2 tablespoons minced parsley
Scrub potatoes with cold water; place in a saucepan; cover with boiling water. Boil, covered, until just tender when pierced with a fork—30 to 40 minutes. Cool, peel and slice about 1/4-inch thick.

In a 10- to 12-inch skillet melt 1/4 cup of the butter; add the potatoes; over moderate heat cook, turning with a wide spatula as necessary, until golden brown. Remove potatoes and keep hot in a warm oven.

Melt remaining 1/4 cup butter in skillet; add onion and cook over moderately low heat, stirring often, until golden.

Return potatoes to skillet. Sprinkle with salt and pepper and mix well. Let stand over low heat if necessary to hold or heat through until very hot. Turn into serving dish and sprinkle with parsley. Serve at once.

Makes 6 servings.

Underlining Gives Dress Shape

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Writer

What is it that separates the average homemade garment from the professional one that sells for hundreds of dollars?

For one thing, would you believe underlining?

"You can't see it from the outside, but it is always there in a good garment to provide the body that helps give the garment its shape and fit," advises long-time dress designer and award winner, Roxane, who has been a winner of the Coty and International Silk awards.

"Well dressed women wear very simple clothes, but the beautiful fit and proper hang of their garments is due to the hidden work—underlinings, facings and interfacings, which are details a home sewer might think are unnecessary. It requires only a little extra effort and patience to fill in that gap between a cheap dress and a good one," she continued.

Given the opportunity to observe the difference in workmanship, a sewer wants to learn how to achieve a quality garment. Roxane has noticed when questions have been put to her at sewing seminars. Many women stay later to examine sewing details of the couture garments she shows.

Their interest motivated her last year to write a little book of basic information, "Sew Like a Pro." It was so successful, it now has been followed by "The Secret of Couture Sewing," which elaborates on the subject of designer techniques and provides hundreds of easy-to-follow illustrations and 40 patterns.

Armed with the same know-how as the pro, a home sewer might hitch her skills to designer techniques, but good fabrics are also necessary to give a garment a look of quality.

"Why waste time and effort on cheap fabric that will give you a bargain-basement type dress," she advises.

In addition to hidden underlinings, there are other tedious aspects of couture sewing. An enthusiast must be willing to use the iron every inch of the way, and she must baste and baste, and stitch and stitch. Some home sewers may be more absorbed in filling up their closets with instant dresses made by stitching up a couple of seams. But the alternative is worth the trouble, in her opinion.

As couture designer for Samuel Winston for 18 years, Roxane did her own fitting and draping. In addition to originating her own collections, she worked with designer Charles James and executed collections for Cecil Beaton and Valentina. In between retirements from various careers in the garment business and rearing three boys on a farm in Princeton, N.J., before the death of her husband, David Kamerstein, she executed many European collections—hand crocheted suits in Portugal, a boutique collection in London, knit collections in Italy.

Working with different sizes and shapes in many countries has made her realize that "no body is built like commercial patterns." After selecting the nearest size, one must adapt the pattern to one's own shape, but she doesn't go along with the idea of "altering the actual pattern to adjust it for fit and measurements."

In her view every home sewer should have a dress dummy on which she can fit patterns of unbleached muslin. After fitting the muslin pattern to her body, she can return it to the dummy and pad it until her own shape is smoothly outlined. She then has a pattern that can be used whenever she works on a basic design.

When you have two basic designs, you may have them all, she believes. "Basic design principles are the foundation of fashion," she explained. "Two basic patterns may be all a woman needs to be dressed well—a shirtwaist style for day and a basic pattern that may be made into afternoon, street and evening clothes, long or short, tailored or dressy. To adapt a pattern to fashion trends, you can open a seam for a looser fit or nip it in for a snugger fit," she advises.

Born in New York, Roxane began haunting the garment center when she was a student at Hunter College.

Locked Church Basis for Pet Peeve

By POLLY CRAMER
DEAR POLLY — My Pet Peeve is with the many locked churches throughout our nation. I have seen such beautiful churches in strange cities and have longed to go inside. I know the exterior beauty only mildly reflects the absolute beauty of the interior but most of the time I find them locked. Can you imagine the satisfaction of being known as a nation of churches, above all other things? — RUBY

Polly's Problem

DEAR POLLY — How can one get rid of roaches in a gas range? I have read the list of contents on the labels of the sprays and all are composed of combustible ingredients. I really need help. — MARY M.

DEAR POLLY — I have made several hats from plastic bleach bottles and hope my directions make it possible for Mrs. J. B. to make one successfully. For mine, I cut eight pieces for the crown and eight pieces for the brim. Those for the crown headband are rectangles with one side not too much longer than the other and with rounded corners. Those for the brim are shaped somewhat like a chair seat that is narrower at the back than the front where the corners are rounded. The narrow ends of the brim pieces fit the longer sides of the rectangles. Holes are made all around the pieces with a paperpunch. Crochet around all these pieces with the desired color of yarn, two single crochet in the side holes and three single crochet in the corner holes. Hold pieces for crown band together with wrong sides out and single crochet together. Do same with pieces for brim. Put crown and brim together in same manner. To make top for the crown start in the center as for a doily and increasing as need be so piece will lie flat and work until large enough to fit around the headband. Do not make too large. I pin this crocheted circle to the plastic headband in several places before crocheting them together. Any desired pattern could be used for this top but I like it a bit open and just use a chain one or two and double crochet. One I made was from a pink bottle and the crochet wool was white which made a very pretty hat. — INA

DEAR POLLY — I have a solution for wives whose husbands snore and vice versa. Most snoring is done when a person is lying on his back. My husband is a tall, large man and it was impossible for me to turn him on his side when he was sound asleep. Now I simply reach over, grab the end of the pillow and SLOWLY pull it towards me one or two inches and this turns his head to one side and the snoring stops. Occasionally this movement will disturb the snorer enough that he will voluntarily turn to one side or the other. Either way has worked every time for me. — JOANN

DEAR POLLY — I find that taping my shoulder straps to my shoulders with the tape used for hair styling does not irritate my skin, keeps the straps from falling down underneath sleeveless blouses and dresses and holds all day. My friends agree this is a great idea to help one stay neat looking. — RUTH

Check For $1,000,000 Brings Fun

TULSA, Okla. (AP) — Rahmi Capan had fun for a little while showing a million-dollar check to his friends.

But it was all a mistake and Capan has only the $15.05 he wanted.

Capan, a 26-year-old Turkish citizen and student at the University of Tulsa, had written a bank at Grand Junction, Colo., for the $15.05 he had on deposit there.

Instead, he received a check for $1,000,015.05.

He called the bank and told them.

"They were very serious about it," he said Monday, "and they told me to get the check turned in at once."

He said, "They didn't even thank me."

He took it to a Tulsa bank where he has an account and handed it to an employee.

"The woman at the desk said at first that she'd be glad to have it cashed for me," he said.

"She hadn't noticed the '1' in front of the number. When I told her to look again at the amount, she leaped up and said, 'Oh my God, you don't want us to give you that much money!'"

The Tulsa bank cleared the matter with the Colorado bank and gave Capan the $15.05 he had deposited while working in Colorado last summer.

Amish Will Return State School Aid

LANCASTER, Pa. (AP) — The Amish of Lancaster and Lebanon counties say they will return $260,000 in state aid for private schools because it is their custom to support their own schools.

Andrew Kinsinger, superintendent of Amish schools in Pennsylvania, wrote to Dr. Lloyd Ruoss, executive director of schools for the two counties and told him his people will not be needing the aid.

The state money was approved by the General Assembly last July, but the constitutionality of the appropriation is still being tested in court.

Arrives

Dr. James H. Boren, left, and his modern-day pony express arrived on Capitol Hill in triumph Tuesday, delivering a sack of mail from Philadelphia faster than the U.S. Postal Service could with all its sophisticated equipment. He is president of a touge-in-cheek organization called the National Association of Professional Bureaucrats. Six riders and eight horses made the 140-mile trip from Philadelphia in relays. A mounted policeman accompanied Boren on his arrival. (UPI)

Elegant Sexiness In Showing

By LYNNE OLSON
Associated Press Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — If you're a woman who doesn't like wolf whistles and ogles, you can forget about the evening clothes designed by Bill Blass for next spring.

You also can forget about them if you have the least bit of excess poundage.

Blass emphasized elegant sexiness for night in his spring collection shown Monday.

Plunging V necklines, halters revealing a vast expanse of bare back and clingy, thin fabrics showing every line and curve were dominant in his evening dresses and lounging pajamas.

Blass proclaimed as his favorite a slinky long jersey dress with a deep scooped halter neck and a cutaway back, showing a wide strip of skin above the waist. He liked it so much, in fact, he showed it in three color schemes.

Another sexy outfit for evening was a pair of lounging pajamas with a gold snakeskin top, showing lots of décolletage, and metallic beige trousers.

For those who don't care for the slinky, glamorous look Blass provided a sharp contrast in what he termed his "demure dresses" — covered-up girlish gowns you could wear to the Junior Prom.

A beautiful example was a long dress with a baby-blue angora wool top and a billowing white skirt.

For daytime, Blass reverted to his hallmark of tailored simplicity, with a soft, feminine touch.

He's pushing dresses and suits for spring, but in nonspring colors — beige, navy and white — so they can be worn through the fall.

Stripes also are big with Blass. Carrying out that theme particularly well was a navy and white striped twill coat over a matching striped shirt and striped wool voile skirt, with a striped cowboy kerchief around the neck.

Pleated skirts, with hemlines just above the knee, dominated daytime wear.

Plains Indians lived between the Mississippi River and the rocky mountains, using horses to hunt buffalo in the vast herds that roamed the region before the 20th century.

Reynolds' Photo Stolen By Admirer

MIAMI (AP) — A nude photograph of actor Burt Reynolds once graced the walls of the ladies' lounge of a socially elite club in Miami, but not for long.

"It probably turned someone on," said club membership director Pat Gibson. She reported Monday that an unknown powder room patron stole the framed photo, taken from the centerfold pages of Cosmopolitan magazine.

Miss Gibson said the photograph of Reynolds in the buff was put in place about four weeks ago at the Munity Club.

She said a second copy of the photo is now being encased in a bullet-proof glass and steel frame and will be firmly bolted to the wall in the ladies' lounge.

Even this 'peace' is to be welcomed

WASHINGTON — When you see light at the end of a long, dark, dangerous tunnel, you generally don't pause to look back, or ask any questions about hazards on the outside. You just "run to daylight" with the joyful abandon of a Larry Brown ripping off-tackle for a winning touchdown.

Rowan

That pretty well describes the initial reaction of millions of Americans to Dr. Henry Kissinger's announcement that "peace is at hand" in Southeast Asia. Even allowing for the possibility that there will be many slips before that sweet cup of peace is pressed to our lips, most Americans are just plain glad to believe that the end of a costly, wearying, divisive war is near. The high cost of peace they will worry about in some sweet bye and bye.

Yet, some looking back is inevitable, for there are lessons for the future in determining exactly what the United States achieved, and at what cost.

In 1965, in a speech in New York, Richard Nixon set a goal of "driving the North Vietnamese invaders out of South Vietnam and assuring its independence."

The pending agreement falls far short of that, for it commits Uncle Sam to remove all its forces from Indochina within 60 days while at least 125,000 North Vietnamese troops will remain in the South, and in control of much territory.

Despite some linguistic sleight-of-hand by the White House, the United States has agreed to a coalition government, sugar-coated with an innocent title of "Council of National Reconciliation and Concord."

Thieu seems to believe that the agreement imperils his political future, and he is probably correct.

The truth is that this cease-fire agreement is based on the United States giving almost exactly what Hanoi was demanding seven years and more than $100 billion dollars ago. It is one of the tragedies of human nature that so many lives were lost, so many young men maimed, so many families filled with grief before Washington would make the concessions now being made.

And what a bitter rock in the craw it must be for that sly old politician, Thieu, that the man he helped into the Presidency by sabotaging Hubert H. Humphrey in 1968 should be the one to "sell out to the Communists," as Saigon puts it.

Thieu senses what intelligent Americans surely know: that the U.S. objective was scaled down long ago from "saving democracy" to "saving face," which the Kissinger arrangement surely will do for a while.

But the likelihood is that all we have bought is a decent interval before the Communists take over — hopefully without the "bloodbath" which Mr. Nixon once spoke of as such a horrible prospect.

A big political plus for Mr. Nixon, especially on the eve of the presidential election, is the apparent certainty that U.S. prisoners will be released promptly.

And — speaking of politics — it becomes clearer that Hanoi was exploiting Mr. Nixon's desire to at least announce that "peace is at hand" before the election. A tipoff is the fact that Hanoi insisted on signing the cease-fire agreement by Oct. 31. Events in Saigon and Washington have made it clear that the Communists believed they could get the best deal out of the Administration while the pressures of a political campaign weighed more heavily on President Nixon than did the protests and complaints of Thieu.

A man as ruthless as Thieu has been in dealing with his own countrymen could resort to all sorts of rash foolishness in trying to frustrate an arrangement that he thinks carries personal peril for him. So we must not discount the possibility that after Nov. 7, and new rounds of negotiations, we will be told that peace is not as close at hand as Kissinger suggested.

But let us hope that, as it seems, the U.S. and Hanoi are locked into an agreement.

Mr. Nixon is right to get out, even though the next few months will show that his departure plan involves no more "honor" and is as much a "surrender" in the long run as the plans of Sen. George McGovern.

We have sent good money after bad in Vietnam for much too long. There are no victories to be had, no new honor to be reaped, from U.S. involvement.

So let us run to daylight, leaving that dark tunnel to Thieu and his cronies, if that is their choice.

Telling it to the IRS

By CARLTON SMITH
NEA Financial Writer

Smith

NEW YORK (NEA) — As a financial columnist, we are constantly on the alert for ways to save money for readers.

So it was only natural that we took special interest in the news out of Washington that at long last Russia is clearing up its World War II lend-lease debt, totaling at Washington's reckoning of the last 25 years $11 billion.

With a solmen signing ceremony to seal the deal, Moscow is settling for $722 million, or about 6½ cents on the dollar. As an added feature, Russia is now to have most-favored-nation status in trade with the United States.

Being a public-spirited citizen, we immediately called the IRS and said we were going to settle our debt to the United States — that is, this year's income tax — for double that amount, or 13 cents on the dollar. We said we would also go along with a signing ceremony, if they felt that would be appropriate.

Around 2 o'clock the next afternoon we had a visit from a representative of the Internal Revenue Service. He wore size 14 shoes, had arms about four feet long, and a voice like Humphrey Bogart's. There was a bulge in his coat just under the left shoulder. He said he was from the Enforcement Division.

He asked if we were the taxpayer who was going to pay 13 cents on the dollar on his taxes, and we shyly mumbled something about it was only twice as much, after all, and we didn't really want a lot of public recognition.

"Are you trying to be funny," he said. There was no question mark at the end of the sentence. If we had any such punctuation as a threaten mark, the sentence would have had one of those at the end.

No, we said, no joking, we really wanted to pay twice as much as the Russians were settling for — and we added that although the Russians weren't going to get all their payments made until the year 2001, we'd clear up our '72 taxes by 1980 at the latest. We admitted we took a certain amount of civic pride in all this and said that if the government wanted to give us most-favored-citizen status, we would graciously accept.

The conversation that followed is a little confused in our memory, but we remember being upset at the idea of the IRS wanting a 100-cent-on-the-dollar settlement. We asked how they'd like it if we just didn't pay — like the Russians after W.W. II.

"We would collect it," said the IRS. "Plus 6 per cent interest."

We had forgotten that when you owe the government money and don't pay it, they add 6 per cent interest every year, and after some quick arithmetic we realized that since 1945 the Russian debt had actually built up to $52.8 billion. This meant they were settling for something less than 1½ cents on the dollar.

In view of that, we withdrew our previous offer to settle our income tax for 13 cents on the dollar, and said we thought 3 cents on the dollar was more than generous, and the IRS could take it or leave it.

"Listen, wise guy," said the Humphrey Bogart voice. "Just remember that the President needs the Russians, but he doesn't need you. Pay up." And with his hands jammed in the pockets of his trench coat, he walked away on his size 14 shoes.

Well, we tried. Maybe next week we can come up with a better way to save money.

Choice candidates in various races

The Democrat-Capital offers the following observations on selected district and state races that will be decided in next Tuesday's general election:

Fourth Congressional District — This contest sees incumbent William J. Randall challenged by Republican Raymond Barrows of Appleton City. We can see no reason to replace Representative Randall, and recommend his re-election.

Congressman Randall has a justified reputation as one of the hardest working lawmakers in the House; his outstanding attendance record, both in committee and on the floor, would bear this out. While we have not agreed with Mr. Randall 100 per cent of the time, we do feel he has been an extremely effective legislator who is unusually responsive to the needs of his constituents.

113th House District — Rep. Joe F. Rains is seeking re-election to a fifth consecutive term in the Missouri House, where he is the 10th most senior member. We think Rains has done an effective job representing this area and urge his re-election.

This does not detract from the qualifications of his well-known Republican opponent, Peter H. "Pete" Stohr. But it is our opinion that Rains, in view of his experience and seniority, best would represent Sedalia in Jefferson City.

Attorney General — Incumbent John Danforth here faces a challenge from an attractive Democrat in Rep. James Spain. The campaign has not generated any wide public interest, however, perhaps due to the decided lack of issues. This is to be expected, since Mr. Danforth has conducted his office in a professional and responsible manner, and in so doing has earned himself a second term as attorney general of Missouri.

State Treasurer — Two of the most equally matched candidates for state office are competing here, Rep. George Parker of Columbia and Democrat James I. Spainhower. Both have compiled impressive records in the House and have earned the respect and support of their respective constituents, although Spainhower is not currently in office.

We would give the edge to Mr. Spainhower, however, on the basis of his wide educational and legislative background, pledge of concrete reforms for the treasurer's office and general record of responsible, responsive public service.

Secretary of State — Our choice here is an easy one — another term for James C. Kirkpatrick. Jim Kirkpatrick is well-known to the people of this area (and the state in general) and has run his office in a proper and effective manner. His Republican opponent, Harold "Wheels" Kuehle of Cape Girardeau, has not managed to latch onto any major issues — again, we think, an indication of Kirkpatrick's record in office.

Drug studies vary with Nixon stand

By JACK ANDERSON

WASHINGTON — The Health, Education and Welfare Department has suppressed two controversial drug studies, whose conclusions fly in the face of President Nixon's war on narcotics.

One startling study, called "Drug Use and the Youth Culture," declares boldly that young people use psychedelic drugs for "a highly moral, productive and personally fulfilling" purpose. It suggests that strict law enforcement is also driving young people "to the left in politics."

The other report, a more exhaustive, three-volume study entitled "Evaluation of Drug Education Programs," calls the government's drug education efforts misdirected and not helpful.

HEW Secretary Elliott Richardson took the unusual step of locking up the three volumes in his office, say insiders, after he was tipped off that "Jack Anderson is trying to get the report." Sources who have read the study say it is biting critical of the government's drug education programs.

Richardson neglected, however, to lock up the second report, which is equally critical. The study is based on exhaustive interviews with young drug users, conducted by social service workers who were carefully selected for "their ability to create trust and rapport with drug users."

More than 150 interviews were held at Berkeley, Calif.; Manhattan, Kan.; Santa Fe, N.M.; New Haven, Conn., and Washington, D.C. Here are the highlights from the 10-chapter report:

✓ "The primary conclusions which our accounts support is that the search which young people pursue with psychedelic drugs can be a highly moral, productive and personally fulfilling one! The use of drugs may be dangerous, and eventually self-limiting, but at worst drug use may be the wrong thing done for the right reasons."

✓ "There is a significant contradiction between young peoples' experiences with drugs, which have been largely pleasant, helpful and meaningful, and the government's point of view that all or most drug use is bad and dangerous. This contradiction, and the government's position, have had destructive consequences for youth."

✓ "Drug laws and their enforcement seem to have no effect in deterring the young people we interviewed from illegal drug use. The reasons mainly stem from their common perceptions that drug use is not, or should not be, a criminal act because everybody does it, and because things done to oneself are constitutionally protected. Our evidence suggests that enforcement officials have greatly exaggerated the need for enforcement of drug laws."

✓ "(Young people) see enforcement as selective enforcement against them and their preferences. Arrest and prosecution ... create a fear and distrust in the youth community, which seems to lead to stronger bonds among individuals, as they unite against what they feel is a shared injustice. This is offered by many subjects to account for their shift to the left in politics after drug use."

✓ "Young people have been singled out as having THE drug problem (along with blacks and soldiers in Vietnam), but no evidence supports this focus as the exclusive or even major focus of drug abuse or use. Other groups, including truck drivers, housewives, doctors and mental patients, seem to be using and abusing drugs regularly and harmfully, at least to the extent young people are. Young people merely extend the widespread societal reliance on drugs."

✓ Young people's "choices of drugs, in order of popularity, are: alcohol, nicotine, caffeine, marijuana, psychedelics, amphetamines, and a much less frequent use of barbiturates and opiates. With the exception of psychedelics, this tends to be the rank order of drugs used and abused throughout the society."

No time for change

I am writing this letter in regard to the headlines of this Thursday's paper, COMMITTEE OF NAACP TAKES STEP. One of the questions that I have is WHY did the legal redress committee wait 18 years to take this step? I myself feel that Hubbard School has always been a good school and that it has also had good teachers. I have four children who have and are now attending Hubbard, as I did. I don't approve of segregation because I have always thought of myself as being free and equal.

I don't think that the black children are receiving an inferior education, but as a mother I do feel that closing a well run school in the middle of the year will be bad for the children, and I also feel that the parents of these children should have some voice in the decision and not this legal redress committee. As I read the names of the committee members I see that not one of these members have children attending Hubbard School that will have to adjust to moving to another school in January. I'm all for a change, but it should be made at the right time so that the children, teachers, parents and the schools will be ready for it.

By Oswald & James Jacoby

About a hundred years ago a writer named James Jacoby proposed a double dummy whist problem with the statement that the most celebrated player in Vienna looked at it and instantly said, "South makes all the tricks."

It turned out to be surprisingly difficult for the whist players of that day and the key play in the hand has since been called the "Vienna coup." The Vienna coup consists of setting up a trick for an opponent and then squeezing him out of it.

There was no bidding at whist, so we have changed the cards slightly and proceeded to misbid the hand all the way up to seven no-trump.

The term "double dummy" means that all four hands are exposed and everyone takes full advantage of this.

South wins the heart lead in dummy and runs off four clubs, while discarding a spade from dummy. West discards a diamond on the third club; his best discard on the fourth one is a heart.

Now comes the Vienna coup. South must cash his ace of spades! Next comes the parade of the rest of dummy's hearts. South winds up with the ace-queen and a small diamond and West must either unguard his jack of diamonds or discard the king of spades.

Either way the grand slam wheels in because East started with just king and one diamond.

(NEWSPAPER ENTERPRISE ASSN.)

♥CARD Sense♦

The bidding has been:

West	North	East	South

You, South, hold:

What do you do now?

A—Pass. If your partner is the sort who might hold seven hearts to the king-queen and bid the way he has, then bid five hearts.

TODAY'S QUESTION

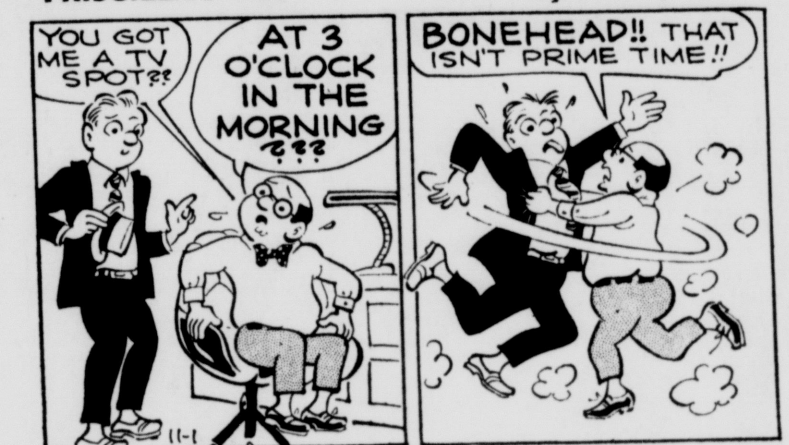

Instead of rebidding three hearts, your partner has bid three clubs over your two spades and four diamonds after you rebid to three spades. What do you do now?

Gremlins Have Tools To Win Conference Crown Again

By VAUGHN HART
Sports Editor

The Sacred Heart Gremlins have a lot of things going for them as they head toward their 1972-73 season cage opener Friday night, when they host Climax Springs.

To begin with, the Grems, who grabbed their first Kaysinger Conference championship last season, has five of their top seven players back from 1971-72, a year that saw the red and white run up 24 wins against only four losses.

Sacred Heart scored just over 75 points per game last season. Three of the players instrumental in helping bring the first league championship to Sedalia last year are gone. They (Bill Straka, Steve Karigan and Chuck Mergen) took with them almost 30 points per contest. But on the brighter side, of the varsity players head Gremlin mentor Tom Beer returns this season from a year ago, they bring back with them just under 55 points per game in combined averages.

Heading that list of returners is all-district, all-conference forward Bill Freund, who topped all the Gremlins' scorers last year with a 14.1 average.

Also back in the team's second-leading scorer from the 1971-72 campaign, Jeff Karigan, who was also named to the Kaysinger Conference team. He hit at a 13.2 clip last season. Freund and Karigan stand at 6-3 and will combine their talents with 6-4 center Mark Dunham inside. Dunham played in 24 varsity contests last season and chalked up points at a 6.6 clip. Dunham was shuffled in and out of the front line in 1971-72. "He pleases me more everyday," says his coach. "He has a lot more polish and is a lot stronger than he was last season."

In addition to leading the team in scoring last season, Freund shot at a torrid 59.9 per cent from the field. He was just ahead of Dunham, who canned 59.8 per cent of his shots.

Freund and Karigan tied for third-place team honors last year in the rebounding department, each with 5.8 per game averages. Dunham pulled off 4.1 caroms per game.

Needless to say, the Gremlins look tough inside.

But their back court combination of Dan Borchers and Steve Fischer could be the best in the conference. "I wouldn't trade Borchers and Fischer for any guard combination in the conference," said Beer as he prepared for one of his practices this week.

"I know Stover will be tough with Paul Marriott and Noel Heppard back at guards this year, but I still think that ours (Borchers and Fischer) fit much better in our type of play," he continued.

"LaMonte's got a good guard in Glyndon Bennett," Beer added. "But when it comes to a pair of guards, I'll take Borchers and Fischer."

Borchers was the red and white's fifth-leading scorer last year hitting at a 9.5 average. Fischer netted 100 points in his 25 games a year ago, giving him an average of 4.0. Borchers plays both ends of the court well as evidenced by his team-leading 64 recoveries last season. "He (Borchers) has really improved," says Beer. "He can take you inside ... and he's strong," Beer contends, adding, "... he could play inside if we need him."

Fischer is the taller of the two at 6-1, while Borchers measures in at 5-10, giving Beer four starters over 6-0.

On the bench, the Grems will have good back-up strength at all positions. Heading the list of replacement guards are 5-10

Tony Lock and 5-11 Randy Johnson, two juniors. Both played mostly on the junior varsity last season, but did manage 1.5 and 1.7 respective scoring averages in their limited varsity experience.

Heading the list of back-up front line candidates are 6-1 Mike Twenter and 6-2 Jim McMullin. Twenter played in six varsity tilts a year ago and averaged 2.5 points, while McMullin carried a 1.8 average in 16 games.

Another front line replacement who could see some action this season is senior Wayne Simon (6-0).

So much for the players on this year's Sacred Heart squad, which will be trying to repeat as the Kaysinger Conference champion. How does Beer view the upcoming season?

"I'm anxious," says the youthful coach, who resigned his post after last year but who later took it back when his replacement decided not to take the job. "We won't change our play much from last season. But we want to execute better on our presses and try to improve our ball handling on the fast break."

The Gremlins hit at better than 47 per cent as a team from the field in the 1971-72 season. Their press was one of the key factors in picking up more than 300 recoveries.

"I think that we will be right in the thick of the conference race," Beer contends. "We have a lot to live up to from last year's record. We got off to a rough start a year ago, dropping to 3-2 after suffering losses to Warsaw and Stover in the (conference) tournament. But after that, we started playing well as a team."

Following their rough start, Sacred Heart ran off eight straight wins before losing a road game to Pilot Grove. That dropped them to 11-3. Their next loss did not come until the finals of the Lincoln Class S Regional Tournament, when Glyndon "Buggar" Bennett and Co. from LaMonte upset them, 64-62 in overtime.

"I've lived with that loss for a long time," said Beer earlier this week. "It's one I'll never forget either. But this is a new year, we can't live on last year's record ... we've got a team that can go a long way ... I just hope we don't beat ourselves this year," he added.

Included in Sacred Heart's 24-4 record of a year ago were two tournament first-place trophies. They upset their way to the title in the Tipton Invitational by beating Versailles, Jefferson City and Eldon. The Grems also captured first place in the annual Smithton Invitational, as well as their second-place finish in the regional.

"I figure it will be us, Warsaw or Stover who will be the league champs at seasons end ... but don't count out Smithton ... they should be the dark horse."

If scheduling has anything to do with it, the Gremlins have some breaks this season. They face Warsaw and Stover, the two who Beer terms as "two of my toughest conference opponents," at home.

The Gremlins edged Warsaw in the seedings for next week's Kaysinger Conference Tournament. Sacred Heart on a revote, was seeded first, while Warsaw got the second seed. Stover is seeded third.

Sacred Heart opens Friday night at home against Climax Springs, a team they bumped a year ago in the season's lid-lifter, 94-69. Beer's not looking back at last year's score in that one though, saying, "... It's the first game of the season — you can expect about anything."

Bennett, Oswald Combine To Blast Tigers, 70-41

By WARREN RIPLEY
Staff Sports Writer

GREEN RIDGE — Darrell Oswald and "Buggar" Bennett combined for 46 points as LaMonte ripped Green Ridge, 70-41, in cage action Tuesday night.

The Vikings jumped out to a 16-0 advantage in the first quarter before Green Ridge could retaliate. The strong LaMonte press yielded turnover after turnover and allowed the Bengals only one shot in the first five and one-half minutes of play. The Vikings didn't allow Green Ridge to score until 1:42 was left in the first period.

Bennett spearheaded the LaMonte offense with ten points in the first quarter to give the Vikings a 23-6 lead.

With Larry Whitworth clearing the boards for the visitors, the Norsemen widened their lead in the second period of play to 44-15.

In the third quarter, the Tigers fought back and refused to lie down. But Darrell Oswald, LaMonte's 5-10 guard, opened up against Green Ridge from the outside. Oswald hit four in a row at one point, to keep the Bengals at bay. The Tigers did manage, however, to rebound the Vikings and played them even in the third quarter.

In the final eight minutes of play, the Tigers again stayed even with the LaMonte squad, but the damage had already been done and the Vikings won handily.

"You can't guard Bennett and Oswald one-on-one," remarked Tiger Coach Larry Barb. "That Bennett is the best guard I've seen in a long time and I've been coaching in a Class M school that plays powers like Herrmann and Montgomery City (last year's class M state champions). And that Oswald is a super-shooter."

"But I was proud of my players," continued Barb. "They didn't give up after LaMonte got them down so far in the first half. They like to play and I think we'll come around and surprise some people. As for LaMonte, I don't care what the competition in the conference is like, they have to be counted in as a contender. If you want to beat LaMonte you'll have to stop Bennett and Oswald and that will be very hard to do. Besides LaMonte has a couple of other players who will hurt you if you concentrate on Bennett and Oswald too much," he concluded.

LaMonte's press was one of the most impressive things about the Viking attack. It forced Green Ridge into several errors.

When asked how it felt to win his first game as the Viking's head coach Larry Ficken replied, "Real good. But I was disappointed that we didn't win the jayvee game, but overall I'm pleased with everything. I'm a little concerned with the way we let them get to the

Cherry Major Factor In Missouri's Success

COLUMBIA, Mo. (AP) —

One of the factors in Missouri's back-to-back upsets over Notre Dame and Colorado and its subsequent rise to 16th in the football poll is the development of quarterback John Cherry.

Before the season, the 22-year-old, 193-pounder was an unknown transfer from Oklahoma A and M Junior College, during the first five games he completed only 31 per cent of his passes.

Against Notre Dame and Colorado he hit on 11 of 19 for 193 yards and played every offensive down for the Tigers, running for key yardage and operating Mizou's Wishbone T well.

"At the beginning of the year I'd go up to the line of scrimmage thinking through the plays, trying not to make a mistake," said the St. Louisan. "I was playing cautious football and you can't play that way."

"You have to go up there and react, and that's what I'm doing now," Cherry said. "Every play in every game is different, as things come up you just have to react to them."

At Pattonville High in suburban St. Louis he played for a team that won only five games in three years. His grades didn't qualify him for a major college scholarship so he went to junior college in Miami, Okla., and led Northeastern to the national championship one year.

Cherry worked out of a pro-set formation and established a reputation as a passer. He didn't start working with the Wishbone until last spring but he likes it now.

"It's fantastic," he said.

"There are so many things you can do off it."

Cherry thinks the Nebraska defeat had a beneficial effect.

"Getting beat 62-0 was really embarrassing. We were just humiliated. You don't want to be embarrassed in big-time football," he said. "We didn't play a good game, and we were just looking forward to playing our next game."

He said reaction to the Tigers' 30-26 upset of Notre Dame helped them in the Colorado game, which they won 20-16.

"We got a couple of letters from Notre Dame fans saying it was a fluke, that the only reason we won was because the game was played on a wet field," Cherry said.

About the rest of the season? "We have to take our games one by one," he said. "We have been what you'd call an unpredictable team."

"In the back of your mind you always think about going to a bowl."

What about going into Saturday's game against Kansas State as a favorite?

"Being a favorite is something different," Cherry said but noted Missouri also was favored in the Baylor game.

"You know what happened there — 27-0." The Tigers lost.

Stover Tops Tigers In Season Opener

(Democrat-Capital Service)

STOVER — Four Stover players hit in double figures as the host Bulldogs captured an 80-73, non-conference season-opening victory over Smithton here Tuesday night.

Phillip Marriott led all Stover scorers with 25 points. Guard Noel Heppard, along with frontliners Ron Hodges and Steve Fischer added 17, 14 and 10 points respectively.

"It was a typical opening game," said one of the coaches after the contest, adding, "... very, very ragged."

Rusty Templemire tied Marriott for game honors with 25 points in the losing Tigers' effort. J. A. Teter added 13, while Paul Anderson and Dan Thomas tossed in 10 each.

Stover carried an eight-point, 22-14, lead into the second quarter, but Smithton shaved that lead to 37-32 by the intermission.

The Bulldogs made it a sweep of the night's activity winning the junior varsity basketball contest, 46-40, and the volleyball tilt, 30-18. Stover's Terry Newgard led the scorers in the jayvee contest with 14; Martin White was tops for Smithton with 12 points.

Cardinals Edge Leeton With Late-game Freeze

(Democrat-Capital Service)

LEETON — The Lincoln Cardinals had to freeze the ball late in the final period here Tuesday night due to foul trouble, but it netted them a 63-61 victory over the Leeton Bulldogs in the season's opener for both clubs.

Lincoln, behind the 35-point performance by the Kaysinger Conference's leading scorer a year ago — Ed Pickens — built up a 35-27 lead. That same eight-point margin held in the third quarter, as the Cards went into the final stanza with a 47-39 advantage.

But foul trouble in the fourth quarter forced the Cardinals to slow down their play. A shot by Leeton at the buzzer pulled the Bulldogs to two.

Scott Nevius tossed in 14 to follow Pickens in the Lincoln scoring department.

The junior varsity contest also went to Lincoln, 38-33. Rod Ingram topped all scorers with 19 for the winners.

NEW YORK (AP) — Can Colorado do to Nebraska on Saturday what it did to Oklahoma two weeks ago?

The unpredictable Buffaloes, who seem to be involved in an upset in one way or another just about every week, entertain the third-ranked but once-beaten Cornhuskers this week-end with a chance to destroy once and for all their dream of an unprecedented third consecutive national college football championship.

Colorado has been a puzzlement, struggling past lowly California in the opening game, losing to underdogs Oklahoma State and Missouri but defeating highly ranked Oklahoma and Iowa State.

Nebraska, on the other hand, has outscored its last six opponents 315-14 after dropping its opener to UCLA. In addition, the Cornhuskers are second nationally in total offense, third in passing, first in scoring, tops in total defense—including four straight shutouts—eighth in rushing defense, sixth in pass defense and third in scoring defense. Colorado isn't among the leaders in any of those categories.

Nebraska's Bob Devaney doesn't lose many games and he's never lost in Boulder. The pick ... Nebraska.

Oklahoma at Iowa State—This one matches the Big Eight's other two bowl teams of a year ago. Oklahoma's statistics are almost as impressive as Nebraska's—No. 1 in total offense and rushing, third in scoring, eighth in total defense, seventh in rushing defense and tied for first in scoring defense with Michigan. Next for Iowa State is Nebraska. For the present, it's ... Oklahoma.

Southern California at Washington State—Top-ranked Trojans are looking ahead ... to a week off, followed by UCLA and Notre Dame. Southern Cal.

Mississippi at Louisiana State—Ole Miss has been in and out and might catch the Tigers looking ahead to Alabama ... were it not for the Rebels' 24-22 triumph a year ago. LSU.

Stanford at UCLA—UCLA is the nation's No. 1 basketball school and Stanford's quarterback is Mike Boryla, whose old man used to put the round ball through the hoop with regularity. Mike is the NCAA's No. 4 passer. Upset Special of the Week ... Stanford.

Southern Methodist at Texas—Mustangs gave Texas a battle royal (no relation to Darrell) before losing 22-18 a year ago but were caught looking ahead by Texas Tech last week. It'll be SMU's fourth-rated rushing defense against the eighth-ranked ground game of ... Texas.

Auburn at Florida—Tigers are the surprise team of the country. Auburn.

Tennessee at Georgia—Tennessee's defense has been super, Georgia's offense has been mostly nonexistent. Tennessee.

Air Force at Army—Ben Martin says the Falcons are "almost as good as some of our bowl teams." Army has no speed. Air Force.

Purdue at Michigan State—Believe it or not, Purdue is tied for the Big Ten lead with Michigan and Ohio State, but the Boilermakers are underdogs in this one. Okay. Michigan State.

Mississippi State at Alabama—Next week it's 'Bama. LSU. This week it's just ... Alabama.

Michigan at Indiana—Hoosiers' bubble has burst with two straight setbacks. Make it three. Michigan.

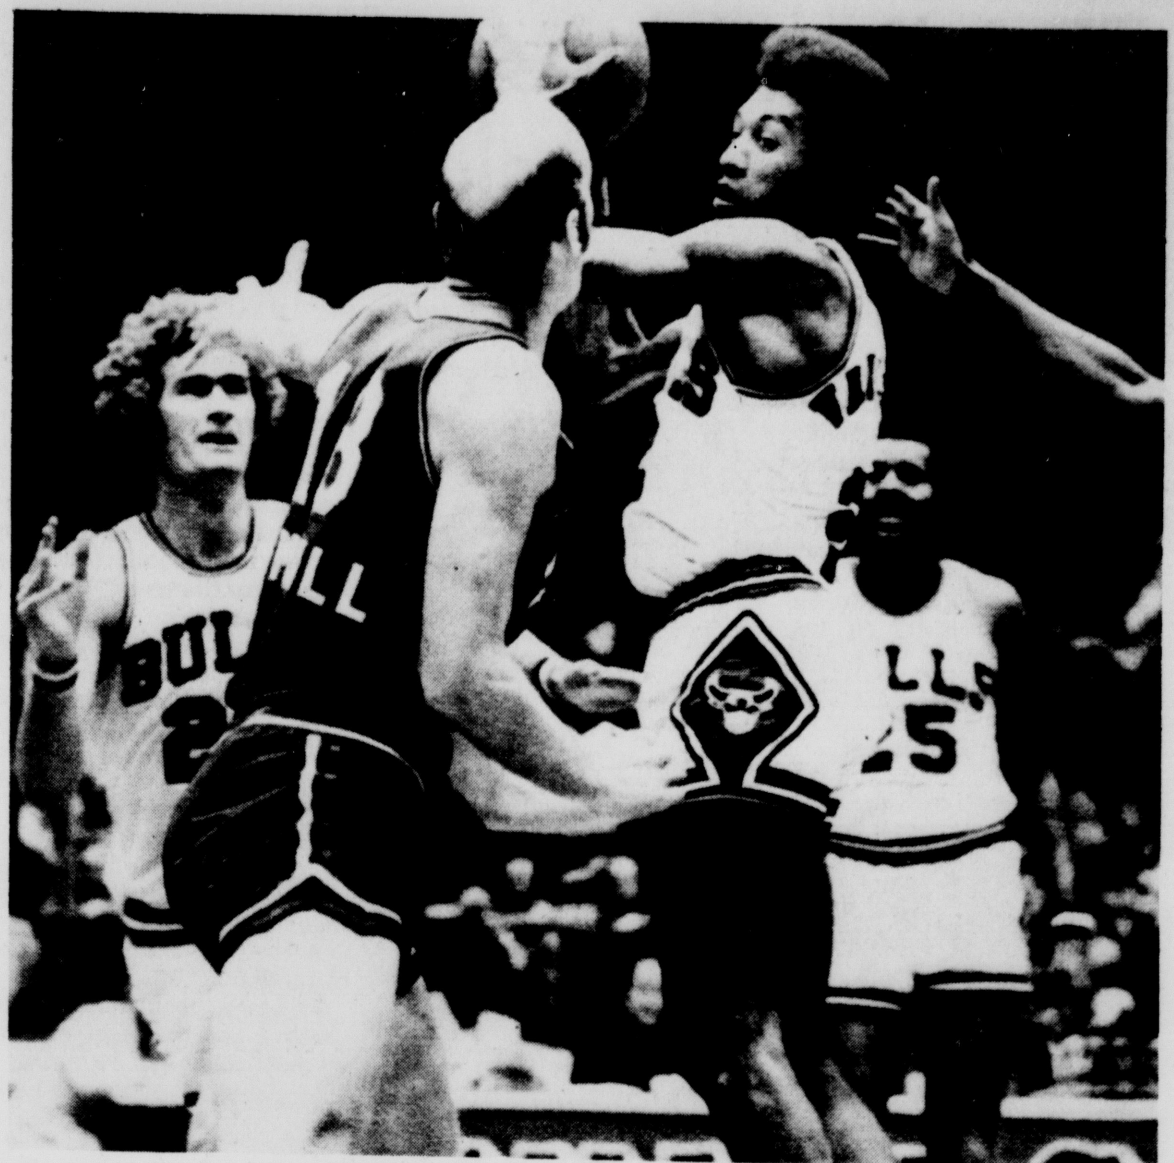

Missouri at Kansas State—Missouri has knocked off Notre Dame and Colorado and faces Oklahoma next week. Logical spot for the Second Upset Special of the Week ... Kansas State.

Dartmouth at Yale—Bulldogs have won 'em all this year in the Bowl and lost their one road game. Enough of that. Dartmouth.

Abdul-Jabbar Will Get Dewar Award

NEW YORK (AP) — Kareem Abdul-Jabbar, the 7-foot-2 star of the National Basketball Association's Milwaukee Bucks, today joined the group of sports stars who will receive the Dewar's Award of Merit at a luncheon here Thursday.

Jabbar is one of the personalities featured in the new book, "Sports Immortals," written by the sports staff of The Associated Press and published by Prentice-Hall, Inc.

Kimball Cuts Off Pass

Kansas City-Omaha's Toby Kimball (18) cuts off Chicago's Norm Van Lier's (2) attempted pass inside in the first half of play Tuesday night in the Chicago Stadium. Bulls' rookie center

Dennis Awtrey (20) and Chet Walker (25) keep an eye on the action. Chicago recorded their fifth straight victory with a 104-95 whipping of the Kings. (UPI)

Mustangs Get Hot In Third Quarter

(Democrat-Capital Service)

HUGHESVILLE — Northwest outscored Ottaville 25-11 in the third quarter here Tuesday night in the season's opener and broke open a tight game as the Mustangs went on to hang up their first victory of the season, 61-38.

Northwest held a one-point lead, 13-12, as the second quarter opened; they stretched that to nine points, 25-17, by the half.

WHCC Banquet

Walnut Hills Country Club will hold their annual awards banquet Thursday night, beginning at 6:30 p.m.

Awards from the year's major tournaments will be presented by Bob McFerren, club golf professional.

Reservations may be made by contacting 826-5915.

Both teams pressed through the contest. Northwest used a zone press, while the losing Eagles pressed man-to-man.

The Mustangs got balanced scoring from Alan Meyer, who hit for 16 points, including a 10 for 12 performance from the foul line. Bob Shireman added 15 and Shawn Barnes 12.

Ottaville's Randy Schilb was the leading scorer in the contest with 21; John Meyer caged 10.

"We had good balance on scoring and rebounding," said Northwest coach Ed Scrogin, who is in his first year at the helm of the Mustangs. "The third period was the real turning point," he added.

Ottaville won the junior varsity contest, 44-33, as Randy Williams and Rusty Schilb connected for 13 and 10 respectively.

Score by Quarters
Northwest 13 12 25 11—61
Ottaville 12 5 11 10—38

Around the Big 8

Three MU Backs Still in Doubt

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Here is a review of activity at the football camps of Big Eight Conference schools Tuesday:

Missouri—Coach Al Onofrio said the Tigers' 16th place ranking in the polls was a compliment but "ratings are made on the basis of past performance and we are thinking only of Kansas State." A decision still hasn't been made on the availability of injured running backs Bill Ziegler, Chuck Link and Ray Bybee.

Iowa State—Coach Johnny Majors locked the gates on the practice field for the first time this season, saying only he "thought it would be wise." He said while 10 Cyclones had injuries that would prevent them from going all out in practice this week, "we all will be ready for Oklahoma."

Nebraska—Coach Bob Devaney took issue with those who say the Cornhusker running game isn't up to par with previous years. "Some teams have ganged up to try to stop our running game and that's helped open up our passing game," he said. "If teams wouldn't let us throw, then we'd throw only eight or 10 times a game and run the ball."

Oklahoma State—Coach Dave Smith, in getting ready for Kansas, said, "This is the healthiest our offensive backfield has been in three weeks." Fountain Smith and George Palmer look like starters in the backfield but the other spot is being fought for by Alton Gerard, Tony Boxell and Alfred Nelms.

Kansas—Coach Don Fambrough said "We've got to move the ball on the ground. We are trying to find a combination of our backfield that can move the ball." Toward that end he had freshman Robert McCaskill, who rushed for 195 yards against the Oklahoma State frosh last Friday, working out with the varsity.

Kansas State—Coach Vince Gibson said the Wildcat offense "looks better than it has for some time." Wide receiver Rick Ferguson, who has a sprained back, is doubtful for the Missouri contest. Halfback Isaac Jackson has a sprained shoulder but should be ready.

FDA Delays Deadline On Safety Packaging

By JOHN STOWELL
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — An unexpected shortage of child-proof containers has prompted the Food and Drug Administration to quietly delay the deadline for safety packaging of aspirin, dangerous drugs and certain liniments.

The notice, published without public announcement in the Federal Register a week ago, gives the nation's 55,000 retail pharmacists until Jan. 22, 1973, to comply.

The original deadlines, based on a two-year-old law, had been Aug. 14 for aspirin, Sept. 21 for methyl salicylate or wintergreen oil, and Oct. 24 for 4,300 types of such controlled drugs as amphetamines, barbiturates and narcotics.

FDA officials said a field survey under way indicates that the packaging-supply backlog may be even more extensive, and that the deadline might have to be extended also for manufacturers of bottled aspirin, the leading cause of child poisonings.

"We just learned of the shortage recently," said Henry L. Verhuist, director of the chemical-hazards division in the FDA's Bureau of Product Safety. "Packaging producers just have not kept up with the demand."

The delay now affects only retail druggists, and covers more than one billion prescriptions they fill annually.

Leonard "Clay" Sisk, an FDA pharmacist, said the shortage was compounded by pharmacists deciding to put all prescriptions in child-resistant containers.

The FDA itself aggravated the shortage in June when it urged drug companies "to voluntarily begin using special packaging for potentially hazardous over-the-counter drugs" rather than wait for government action.

The FDA's slow enforcement of the 1970 Poison Prevention

Packaging Act, designed to cut down on the 500,000 accidental poisonings that kill up to 500 children each year, has drawn frequent criticism from Congress.

Dr. Sidney Wolfe, head of Ralph Nader's Health Research Group, said the latest delay demonstrates that FDA "again is placing economic feasibility for manufacturers above safety considerations."

A spokesman for Brockway Glass Co. at Brockway, Pa., said part of the rub is that FDA won't say whether it approves or disapproves of a safety design until after the closure has been marketed.

Packagers held off production as long as possible, he added, "because our customers were shopping for the best containers and the best price until the eleventh hour."

The most popular childproof closures are the snap variety, or the double cap requiring a push-and-turn motion, FDA said.

Center Director Roger Garlich said he hopes the drive raises about $15,000 for the new Virginia Flower Child Development Center which, when completed, will house the Therapy Center and Sheltered Workshop. ## Jury To Consider Evidence of Trial

KANSAS CITY, Kan. (AP) — The jury in the trial of four men accused of an Aug. 7 bank robbery at Osawatomie, Kan., was to begin deliberations today after hearing instructions from Judge Earl C. O'Connor in U.S. District Court.

Final arguments from defense and prosecution attorneys were heard Tuesday.

Accused are Maurice Jackson, 21, Clyde Hayes, 39, Henry M. Abrought, 25, and Earl Howard, 27, all of Kansas City.

William F. Mallory, 24, Kansas City, has pleaded guilty to the robbery but has testified he could not identify the defendants as participants in the robbery.

The prosecution contends that four of the men stole a car and drove to Osawatomie while the fifth drove a truck with a camper on it. It said the men robbed the American State Bank about noon, took $7,000 in currency and left Osawatomie in the camper.

school experiences, "begin a failure syndrome which plagues many delinquents through both their youth and adult lives."

It said the school is often the only place where behavioral problems can be detected early and professional help can be obtained.

Isaac Gurman of St. Louis is chairman of the Missouri Law Enforcement Assistance Council and the task force consultant was Charles Mann, director of the St. Louis Bureau for Men and a member of the state Board of Training Schools.

Several hundred Missouri officials, citizen leaders and youth aided in the task force study.

and rehabilitative services, where available, were generally for poor quality.

The report gave top priority to well planned, adequately funded and aggressive delinquency prevention and charged that "the Missouri public school system has not responded to the challenge of juvenile delinquency."

"Some schools continue to reject, exclude or expel those children representing symptoms of behavioral maladjustment or learning disabilities," the report said.

The task force concluded such encounters, usually occurring very early in a child's

Robbery Induces A Fatal Coronary

ST. LOUIS (AP) — James Pelican, 79, collapsed and died Tuesday night after being robbed while on a trip to the store for Halloween candy.

Police said Pelican, a retired restaurant owner, was returning home with candy for youngsters on their Halloween rounds when he was accosted in an alley.

He returned to his home and told his wife he had just been robbed "by two fellows with knives." He then collapsed, apparently of a heart attack, police said.

In the United Kingdom, some of the larger dairies are experimenting with plastic milk containers, to replace some of the 40 million glass bottles in circulation, according to the Bureau of International Commerce.

Ed Dowd Leading In Poll

ST. LOUIS (AP) — A poll of the 1st Congressional District in St. Louis and St. Louis County, showed Edward L. Dowd leading his Republican opponent, Christopher S. "Kit" Bond in the race for governor.

The poll was taken by the St. Louis Globe-Democrat and Kansas City Star and was the tenth of a series. The date of the interviews was not announced.

All Democratic state candidates were leading in the district, which the Globe said normally votes heavily Democratic. Dowd's lead over Bond was reported to be 16 per cent with 9 per cent of the voters still undecided.

The same poll showed Sen. George McGovern leading President Nixon by 33 per cent with another 17 per cent of the voters undecided. U.S. Rep. William Clay led his Republican challenger, Richard Funch, by 47 per cent.

Both newspapers have endorsed Bond and Nixon.

Conditions Are Blamed For Unrest

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — Thirty-one sailors flown here from the Philippines under armed guard last week say they lived under unbearable conditions aboard ship and at a naval base, and they say the conditions led to drug problems and racial unrest.

The group presented a petition Tuesday to a representative of Sen. Alan Cranston, D-Calif., asking for a congressional investigation of conditions aboard 7th Fleet ships in the Pacific and on the Subic Bay Naval Base in the Philippines.

"Servicemen are required to work long hours — 24-36-hour shifts are not uncommon," the sailors said in statement. "The ships are hot and bug-infested. The officers and noncommissioned officers harass and intimidate the lower enlisted ranks and discriminate against black and brown sailors. These conditions lead to drug problems and racial tension."

They said men who refuse to work or who take drugs are transferred to Subic Bay, where conditions "are more explosive than on the ships." Last week 200 men from Subic Bay were flown here, some for disciplinary hearings, some for drug treatment and some for discharge, the Navy said. Navy spokesmen say the men were not involved in recent racial disorders aboard the carrier Kitty Hawk and the oiler Hassayampa.

The petitioners did not mention the disorders specifically Tuesday but said shipboard conditions caused "tension leading to racial conflicts."

Southwest Flooding

NEOSHO, Mo. (AP) — Residents of low-lying areas of this southwestern Missouri city began leaving their homes early today as three days of rain sent Hickory Creek roaring out of its banks.

Police, sheriff's officers and National Guardsmen were assisting in evacuating elderly residents in the north and east sections of the city.

No injuries have been reported.

Several homes, cars and other property already have been covered by the flood water, which now is within six blocks of the downtown business sections.

Police said it had been raining in the area three days and the rainfall totals more than 10 inches. It began raining quite heavily about 11 p.m. Tuesday night and the downpour continued early today.

Neosho is a city of about 8,000 persons 20-miles south of Joplin on U.S. highway 71, about 15 miles east of the Oklahoma border and 30 miles north of the Arkansas border.

State Juvenile Programs Criticized By Task Force

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — A task force on juvenile delinquency charged today Missouri's juvenile programs are bad and will get worse if allowed to continue.

It called for immediate action by the 1973 legislature to correct the situation and said corrective bills are being drafted.

The chairman of the juvenile delinquency task force was Circuit Judge Alvin C. Randall of Kansas City and the study has been going on about three years under a federal grant from the Missouri Law Enforcement Assistance Council.

This was the basic finding in the report issued today.

"The present system for the delivery of services to delinquent children is ineffective, uncoordinated, fragmented, costly and if allowed to persist, will provide Missouri's citizens less and less protection and will rehabilitate fewer and fewer children, while costs will continue an upward spiral."

The task force viewed the statewide picture with deep concern. It found numerous cases where children were still being detained with adults, were not getting proper diagnostic and evaluation services and rehabilitative services, where available, were generally for poor quality.

The report gave top priority to well planned, adequately funded and aggressive delinquency prevention and charged that "the Missouri public school system has not responded to the challenge of juvenile delinquency."

"Some schools continue to reject, exclude or expel those children representing symptoms of behavioral maladjustment or learning disabilities," the report said.

WHERE THEY STAND

THE ISSUES OF THE 1972 CAMPAIGN

Labor

REPUBLICANS

We deplore the practice of locating plants in foreign countries solely to take advantage of low wage rates in order to produce goods primarily for sale in the United States. We will take action to discourage such unfair and disruptive practices that result in the loss of American jobs.

We will work closely with labor and management toward our mutual goal of assuring a job for every man and woman seeking the dignity of work.

The positions above were extracted from the official 1972 platforms of the Republican and Democratic Parties.

DEMOCRATS

Continued support of our system of free collective bargaining and opposition to any attempt to substitute compulsory arbitration for it.

Repeal the section 14 (b) of the National Labor Relations Act which allows States to legislate the open shop, and remove the ban on common-sites picketing.

Move to a minimum wage of $2.50 per hour, and expand coverage of the Fair Labor Standards Act to include the 16 million workers not presently covered.

Fats Problem In Right Milk

Dear Dr. Lamb — I would like some information on the milk I'm using. It is supposed to be a lower calorie milk than regular milk. I am a diabetic and I drink about one glass a day. The grandsons love it and will drink it in preference to any other. I want to know if it is bad for heart or cholesterol. I am sending part of the carton so you can see the contents.

Dear Reader — According to the ingredients listed on the carton it contains hydrogenated coconut oil. There are a number of milk products on the market that are filled with coconut oil. There is no health advantage to using this type of milk instead of ordinary whole milk. As far as fat is concerned, coconut oil is one of the foods with the highest amount of saturated fat. It is generally thought that the saturated fats should be limited in the interest of preventing high cholesterol and heart disease. Although the label does not say how many calories the filled milk contains I doubt very much that it is significantly lower in calories than ordinary whole milk.

About the only thing you could say for the product you are using is that it may contain less cholesterol than whole milk. However, since there isn't that much cholesterol in milk anyway and since using coconut oil is thought to cause the body to form cholesterol, this isn't a worthwhile trade-off.

Dear Dr. Lamb — I'm a 12-year-old boy who has been smoking cigarettes regularly (1/2 pack per day) for over a year. My parents and coaches notice that I don't run as fast as I used to and I blame smoking for making me run slower. Do you think smoking cigarettes could affect me that much in so little time?

Dear Reader — Yes, I do. Carefully designed research studies of the effects of cigarette smoking on athletic training have shown that it can and does significantly decrease a person's exercise ability, specifically in regard to running. Cigarette smoking causes the heart to work harder at rest and limits its ability to further increase its work when you exercise.

Collision Fatal

To Four Persons

MALDEN, Mo. (AP) — A collision of two pickup trucks Tuesday night killed four persons and injured one other.

The Highway Patrol said Richard A. Redmond, 37, of Route 1, Campbell, Mo., was westbound on Route J about five miles west of here when his truck, traveling at high speed on the wet pavement, slid into the oncoming truck driven by George L. Ray, 71, of Route 1, Doniphan, Mo.

Both drivers died. Also killed was Ray's wife, Ada, and their son, Charles G. Ray, 48, of Route 3, Portageville. Injured in Ray's truck was William Joe Robertson, 45, of Portageville. He was taken to Doctors' Hospital in Poplar Bluff.

Attention Charlie Brown

No, Linus, this is not the great pumpkin. By his own admission this is the "Jolly Jack-o-lantern" who has awaited the visits of young ghosts and goblins every Halloween for eight years at the home of the Bill Hall family, 2901 Daryl. This year was no exception as the pumpkin "talked" to trick-or-treaters Lisa Myers, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Myers, 1003 Royal, Lisa Willoughby, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Willoughby, 100 Helen Circle, and Randy (tiger) and Scott Doane, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Bert Doane, 903 Sylvia. Some non-believers say Hall does all the talking for the jack-o-lantern by way of a microphone.

Suggests Corporate Blending

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — A former president of the American College of Hospital Administrators, Everett A. Johnson of Gary, Ind., called today for "a corporate and governmental blend of medical and management knowledge into an economically productive health care system."

Johnson, administrator of the Methodist Hospital of Gary, spoke at a breakfast meeting on the final day of the 50th annual Missouri Hospital Association convention. About 600 administrators, financial managers, nurses and other key personnel have been attending the three-day convention.

"When administrators oppose the development of an expensive, new program, like a trauma center, physicians will believe they are callous toward human suffering," Johnson said. "When administrators authorize it, they may be ridiculed for not opposing it on a cost basis."

"Success in the future rests in facing both sides with the other's set of values and mediating an intelligent compromise."

Hospital administrators are men in the middle, Johnson said, but they are "the only health field personnel able to deal with both basic viewpoints."

The job is too complex for trustees and the medical specialist is trained to consider only human values," he said.

Reveal Hijack Defense

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Martin J. McNally, 28, wants the charge of hijacking an airliner against him dropped. He says he couldn't possibly be the man who jumped out of a plane going 350 miles an hour at 10,000 feet because such a jump would kill a person, and he's very much alive.

That's the gist of a pre-trial defense motion made Tuesday in the court of U.S. District Judge John K. Regan. McNally is charged with the June 23 hijack of an American Airlines plane. Walter J. Petlikowsky, 31, is charged as an accomplice. Both men are from the Detroit area.

The pilot of the airliner reported the speed and altitude of the plane, the motion said. It said that if an attempt is made to prove such a jump possible or impossible "...after eight or 10 bodies are splattered around the countryside, the defendant will sure not be charged with being the person who did take the American Airline Flight 119."

The hijacker bailed out over northern Indiana with $502,500 and a small machine gun. The money and weapon were found and McNally was arrested several days later in Michigan.

Interstate Prospects Said Dim

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — Interstate highways are hard to come by, a federal transportation official told a group of highway promoters in Memphis Tuesday.

"It would be less than realistic if I did not caution you that there are many obstacles you must overcome," said Ralph R. Bartlesmeyer, acting federal highway administrator, to the six-state group that dreams of having a concrete link between Kansas City, Mo., and Jacksonville, Fla.

Bartlesmeyer said he did not wish to dampen the spirits of the 300 proponents, but added that all 42,500 miles of the interstate system have been allocated and the system is now reaching completion.

Any further expansion, he said, "would be a matter for consideration by congress."

The proposed highway would begin in Kansas City, pass near Springfield, Mo., Batesville, Ark., Memphis, Tupelo, Miss., Birmingham, Ala., and Columbus and Brunswick, Ga., and end at Jacksonville.

Attending the meetings were representatives from state highway departments and the federal highway administration and city, county and state leaders from the states affected by the proposed route.

Stabbed at Home

COLLINSVILLE, Ill. (AP) — Police said Mrs. Eva Jane Cline, who was stabbed 37 times, was found dead in her home Tuesday by her son.

The widow's body was between the kitchen and living room. She was dressed in pajamas. There was no sign of any forced entry into the home, officers said.

The son, Roger Cline, 37, lived with his mother.

Reasonable Treatment Good Defense

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — Reasonable and acceptable treatment of prisoners is one of the best tools prison and jail officials have against often groundless, pestiferous, damage suits by prisoners.

That is one of the conclusions of Howard L. "Pat" McFadden, general counsel for the Missouri Department of Corrections, after handling hundreds of such suits involving millions of dollars in alleged damages.

McFadden has set forth his views in an article in defense of such suits, written under a project grant from the National Institute of Law Enforcement and Criminal Justice. The article has been submitted to the National Sheriffs' Association for publication.

McFadden said the article was a distillation of a series of lectures and speeches he has made around the country at correctional meetings in the last two years.

He made the article public after acting as co-counsel in a recent series of suits in U. S. District Court here before U. S. District Judge Fred J. Nichol of Sioux Falls, S. D. Juries found against penitentiary inmates in four of the cases and Judge Nichol has a fifth case under advisement.

Most of the 43 suits filed were dismissed as without grounds.

In his legal article, McFadden noted that "the courts as well as the general public are taking an increasing interest in correctional institutions. They have the legal authority to do this and it behooves corrections personnel to recognize and work within the system in order to prevent undue friction, adverse publicity and aberrant court decisions disruptive of effective administration."

McFadden recommended that all state legislatures set up a defense fund, like Missouri's, "before personnel are confronted with the ruinous situation of having to defend repeated and unwarranted law suits at their own expense."

"Above all, reasonable and acceptable treatment practices should be put into effect even at the expense of abandoning other desirable programs."

"It makes no sense at all to conduct classes on data processing and computerization in an institution where men are housed 10 to a cell and fed potatoes and beans three times a day."

"Where it is necessary to draw the line and go to trial over an issue, the corrections administrators' greatest defensive weapon is public opinion. Assuming the reasonableness of his cause he can rest assured that a jury or ultimately an appellate court will vindicate him."

McFadden advised that treatment programs be made applicable on a statewide basis because cases involving statewide policies can be heard by a three-judge federal court panel which provides additional protection for prison administrators.

He said there is no question about the legality of such suits if civil rights are really involved, but the issue is often clouded by activists.

Under an 1891 law, he noted, "It is clear that persons confined in state penal institutions may invoke the protection afforded by this law and the right to be free from cruel and unusual punishment is one of the rights that a state prisoner may so enforce."

McFadden cited a federal court decision emphasizing that courts are loathe to interfere with prisoner administration where maintenance of discipline is involved.

The same case held that solitary confinement alone is not an unconstitutional form of punishment.

"It is permissible," the court ruled, "where its object is protection for the prisoner himself, for disobedience of orders or for prevention of his escape."

The prison inmate cases have proliferated since a 1962 U. S. Supreme Court decision holding that the cruel and unusual punishment provisions of the Constitution apply to the states.

In defending such suits, which require countless man hours of time by prison personnel, McFadden said it is usually enough "to simply demonstrate that action taken with respect to an inmate or treatment afforded him is warranted in the light of the facts, conforms to generally accepted prison practices and is not demonstrably cruel, harsh or injurious."

It is axiomatic, McFadden wrote, "that an established pattern of bad behavior is the most frequent justification for and indeed the principal cause of segregated treatment in an institutional setting. To ignore past assaultive conduct is to jeopardize the safety of all others at the same facility."

No Missouri prisoner has won a damage suit so far against a prison official.
